The Colorado Consumer Health Initiative is a unified, statewide organization of consumers and consumer advocates whose goal is quality affordable health care for all Coloradans.

Our mission is to ensure barrier-free access to quality health care for all Coloradans.

Our Members

Colorado Consumer Health Initiative is a coalition of over 200 consumer advocacy organizations and individuals committed to increased access to health care.

Current Programs and Activities

We engage in a wide variety of projects focusing on issues relating to healthcare financing (public and private), the uninsured, state-level health insurance reforms, and the impact of changes in the healthcare market on consumers. In addition, we have addressed the roll-back of consumer protections in Colorado’s health insurance laws, prevented cuts to vulnerable populations in the Medicaid program, worked to maintain and increase federal funding for Medicaid and CHP+, organized the faith community, and worked to improve access to health care for Colorado’s most at-risk populations.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Colorado Consumer Health Initiative (CCHI) wishes to acknowledge Pilar Ingargiola & Barbara Yondorf for their research and writing of the first version of this guide. We would also like to acknowledge the Colorado Health Institute, the Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing, the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment and our many other community partners for their extensive help with our most recent update. Lastly, we would like to thank Margaret Hedelund and Chloe Benson who put many hours into updating this guide.

Approximately 813,000 of Colorado’s residents have no health insurance. This represents 17% of the population and 1 in 6 Coloradans, above the national average. Being uninsured often results in serious consequences, ranging from lack of preventive care to higher likelihood of chronic diseases and increased mortality rates.

There are many reasons for high rates of uninsurance. Approximately 78% of the uninsured population is comprised of working-age adults. Many employees are not offered health insurance through their workplace or cannot afford their share of the premiums.

Coloradans without health insurance are also more vulnerable to economic loss. The cost of care for the uninsured is frequently passed on to the state, to employers, or to individuals with insurance.

The purpose of this guide is to help uninsured individuals and families, health care providers, and other social services workers understand what healthcare options are available for the uninsured in Colorado.

This guide provides information about

- Programs that pay for health care or help with health insurance, including: Medicaid, Baby Care/Kids Care and 1931 Family Medicaid; the Child Health Plan Plus (CHP+); the Colorado Indigent Care Program; Cover Colorado; and the Health Care Program for Children with Special Health Care Needs.
- Programs that provide health care, including: community health centers; school-based health centers; public health programs; family medicine residency programs; community and migrant health services; dental health programs; and mental health programs.
- Programs that provide food assistance, including: the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC); Food Stamps Program; and other food assistance programs; and
- Other related programs including assistance with housing, energy, etc.

The next time you run across someone who needs access to low-cost health care services and programs, refer to this guide to see if you can help them find the care they need and deserve.

In addition, the Family Healthline is a hotline with operators available to help screen families for free and low-cost health care programs and assist families with problems in applying for these programs. Call 303.692.2229 in metro Denver, or toll free at 1-800-688-7777, elsewhere in Colorado.
HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

This is a guide for consumers, consumer advocates, healthcare providers, policymakers, and other professionals working to help consumers:

• Understand the complex maze of health and human services programs in Colorado
• Identify for which programs and services consumers might be eligible, and
• Locate safety net programs and resources throughout the state.

Within this guide, users will find three major sections:

SECTION ONE includes eligibility and other program tables, and program summaries. Section One may be used for:

• An understanding of the changing healthcare environment and its effects on the safety net
• Quick identification of program eligibility and populations served
• A summary of programs throughout the guide, and
• Determining where to find more information on programs.

SECTION TWO includes information on healthcare programs, providers, and other resources. Section Two may be used in identifying more in-depth information on:

• Available medical and public assistance programs and public health programs
• Health, dental, mental, and long-term care providers, and
• Other resources and programs for assistance with food, energy, legal, housing, interpretation, environmental, transportation, and other related issues.

SECTION THREE includes a listing of safety net agencies and providers. Section Three may be used to locate agencies, departments, and safety net providers and clinics in their local communities where consumers can obtain assistance with eligibility determination or receive services. This is an updated and expanded version of a previous guide entitled, “The Colorado Guide to Free and Low Cost Health Care for Pregnant Women and Children” published by The Piton Foundation. This version has been expanded to include information on “safety net” programs, resources and services for ALL consumers – including adults, seniors, pregnant women, children and youth, disabled and special needs, and other populations.

To all readers please note:

• The information on these pages may have changed since the directory was published. Please contact the Colorado Consumer Health Initiative at 303.839.1261 with updates and corrections. A copy of the directory can be found on the CCHI website: www.cohealthinitiative.org.

• Some of the providers in this directory may cap the amount of safety net services they provide. Consumers should call first to see if a particular clinic they are interested in going to has a waiting list or is otherwise limiting its care to patients.

The economic downturn has resulted in increases in unemployment and underemployment as well as indirect increases in the numbers of uninsured and underinsured individuals and families in Colorado. The impacts on the healthcare system, public health infrastructure and the safety net have resulted in:

- An increase in the demand for services on an already overburdened system;
- A reduction in state funding to public programs and reimbursement to private providers serving low-income populations in Colorado;
- Overburdening of the healthcare system, including core and general safety net providers, such as emergency rooms, community Health Centers, rural health Clinics, public health departments, and community clinics which cannot always meet the demand;
- An increased burden on other businesses and sectors as costs are shifted to meet the demand.

The impact of these changes on the state’s economy and budget have made it progressively more challenging to meet the demand for services for individuals and families and has made it increasingly difficult for individuals and families to find needed health care and other public assistance services.

As a result, the landscape of programs available to low-income populations has changed significantly. Several changes have taken place in the past few years that impact some of the key public assistance and medical programs. This guide will provide a summary of these changes and then will provide a broad overview of the low-cost programs and resources that are currently available for Colorado children, adults, families, disabled persons and seniors.

Colorado Benefits Management System (CBMS)

In September 2004, the Colorado Benefits Management System (CBMS) was implemented as the new comprehensive computerized eligibility and payment system that issues benefits to qualified clients throughout the State of Colorado. CBMS was developed by the Colorado Department of Human Services and the Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing to determine eligibility and benefit amounts for a variety of social services programs. CBMS was designed to replace several separate systems and with the purpose of enabling individuals and families to have a single point of contact and entry/application for health and social services programs. However, there have been many problems and complications with the implementation of CBMS. The new system requires more information so the application and eligibility interview is longer than in the past. As a result, the department will be implementing a new user entry program called “PEAK” projected for introduction in April of 2010. PEAK is a user friendly program that will allow consumers to key in basic data and determine what benefits they are eligible for.

Public Health Per Capita Funding

State and local-public health budgets have continued to decline while federal funds have become increasingly categorical. The result has been the increasing difficulty of local public health departments and agencies to provide core public health services to meet the needs of their communities. In 2002, the Governor vetoed the per capita line item in the state budget to support discretionary funding to local public health departments. These funds supported basic public health infrastructure and services. The elimination of the per capita discretionary funding and the increase in categorical funding has made it increasingly difficult for public health departments and agencies to respond to the community’s basic public health needs, resulting in the transfer of much of the public health burden on to the already fragile and overburdened safety net.

As of 2008, Colorado ranks 16th in the United States in terms of per capita state funding on Public Health. Colorado spent $241,227,800 in FY 2007-2008 on public health or about or about $49.62 per citizen. Budget cuts in 2009-2011 may reduce that figure.
2004 Tobacco Tax

In November 2004, a ballot initiative to raise the tax on tobacco products was passed by the voters of Colorado. This raised the excise tax on cigarettes by 64 cents - bringing the total to 84 cents per pack and putting Colorado closer to the national average. This tax is used to fund: public health insurance expansion for Colorado families through the Child Health Plan Plus and Medicaid; comprehensive primary care through Community Health Centers and other clinics serving a high portion of uninsured; tobacco education, prevention and cessation programs; and prevention, early detection and treatment of cancer, cardiovascular and pulmonary diseases.

As of August 2009, an executive order reallocated $15 million of Amendment 35 tobacco tax revenue to be diverted to pay for Medicaid. This is on top of $20 million the Colorado Legislature diverted from the Amendment 35 revenues earlier in 2009. The total $35 million is roughly 70% of the fund for these services.

Colorectal Cancer Screening Program (House Bill 08-1410)

Colorectal cancer is the second highest cause of cancer death among men and women. It is the only cancer type that can be prevented and cured through screening. The Colorado Colorectal Screening Program, passed in 2008, provides funding to carry out colorectal screenings for legal residents of Colorado. The program was awarded monies through a competitive grants program through the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment’s Cancer, Cardiovascular Disease and Chronic Pulmonary Disease Competitive Grants Program, which utilizes a portion of the state’s tobacco tax revenue.

The University of Colorado Cancer Center (UCCC) at the Anschutz Medical Campus coordinates the program, which is based in over 65 community health clinics across Colorado. These community clinics will offer free endoscopic screenings to those who qualify.

Eligibility Criteria

- Age 50 or older (at average risk) or under 50 at increased risk for colorectal cancer (those having a personal or family history of cancer or polyps)
- Uninsured, or have insurance that does not cover ANY cost for endoscopic colorectal screening
- Household income below 250% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL)
- Lawfully present in Colorado
- Patient in a partnering clinic
- Eligible for a colorectal screening according to American Cancer Society clinical guidelines

To learn more about CCSP and to find out how to get screened for colorectal cancer in the program, visit http://www.uccc.info/ccsp. To locate clinics participating in the program in your area, please call 1-866-227-7914.

Medical Benefits for Legal Immigrants (House Bill 09-1353)

Subject to sufficient appropriations and the receipt of federal financial participation, House Bill 1353, passed in 2009, authorizes the Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing to provide benefits under Medicaid and the Children’s Basic Health Plan (CBHP) to pregnant women and children who are legal immigrants without a waiting period, so long as other eligibility criteria are met. Previously, legal immigrants were not eligible for Medicaid or CBHP for 5 years after the date of entry into the United States.
Colorado Healthcare Affordability Act (House Bill 09-1293)

In 2009, the State Legislature passed HB 09-1293, the Colorado Healthcare Affordability Act. This legislation will increase Medicaid eligibility for Colorado citizens beginning in 2010. After the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) approve the hospital provider fee waiver (currently targeted for April 2010), Colorado will expand Medicaid eligibility as follows:

1) Increase eligibility for parents of Medicaid eligible children from 60% of FPL to 100% of FPL in the Spring of 2010. 100% of FPL is equivalent to an annual income of $10,830 for an individual or $22,050 for a family of four.

2) Provide eligibility for adults without dependents up to 100% of FPL in early 2012

3) Provide Medicaid Buy-In for disabled adults and children up to 450% of FPL by the summer of 2011. 450% of FPL is equivalent to an annual income of $48,735 for an individual or $99,225 for a family of four.

4) Provide 12 month continuous eligibility for Medicaid children by the spring of 2012.
Medicaid

Medicaid is a joint federal and state financed program that helps pay for health and long-term care costs for low-income and special needs Coloradans. The Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing (HCPF) administers the state’s Medicaid program. Medicaid programs described in this guide include: 1931 Family Medicaid, Transitional Medicaid, Four-Month Extended Medicaid, Baby Care Kids Care, Home and Community Based Services, and other Medicaid programs. Individuals and families may apply for benefits at all county departments of human/social services and selected Medical Assistance (MA) sites. For a list of these providers go to Appendix II or go to www.cbms.state.co.us/links/clientinformation/pdfs/CountyDSSandMADirectory.pdf.

Child Health Plan Plus

Child Health Plan Plus (CHP+) is health insurance coverage for low-income children under 19 years of age, who are not eligible for Medicaid, and whose families have incomes at or below 205% of federal poverty level (see page 17). Coverage includes a comprehensive package of benefits designed specifically for children and youth. You can call CHP+ Customer Service at 1.800.359.1991. For more information about applying for CHP+ go to www.chpPlus.org.

Old Age Pension Program

The Old Age Pension program was established in 1937 to provide basic retirement income, healthcare coverage, and cash benefits to individuals aged 60 years and older. There are three categories of assistance for the program – A, B, and C. In addition to the three OAP program categories, individuals may be eligible for the Health & Medical Program or the Dental Program. For more information on the OAP program, contact the local county department of social/human services or go to www.cdhs.state.co.us/AAS/adultfinancial_pension.htm or Appendix II.

Adult Foster Care

The Adult Foster Care program provides care on a 24-hour basis to frail elderly, physically or emotionally disabled adults, 18 years of age and over, who do not require 24-hour medical care in licensed Assisted Living Residences. For more information, contact the local county department of social/human services (see Appendix II).

Food Assistance Program

The Colorado State Food Assistance Program assists low income individuals and families who need assistance purchasing food. Individuals and families should apply for food stamp benefits at their local county department of social services. The Food Assistance Program is offered in at least one location in all Colorado counties. The county worker will interview applicants and determine the household eligibility for benefits. They will provide the applicant with a Quest card that can be used to purchase groceries at any participating grocery store or other retailer. For more information about Food Stamps, contact the local county department of social/human services, Appendix II, or go to www.cdhs.state.co.us/fap/.

Supplemental Security Income Program

The SSI program makes cash assistance payments to aged, blind and disabled people (including children under 18) who have limited income and resources. For more information on the Supplemental Security Income program or to locate local Social Security offices, call Social Security at 1.800.772.1213.

Aid to the Blind/Aid to the Needy Disabled

The Aid to the Blind (AB) program provides limited assistance to low income persons who are blind. The Aid to the Needy Disabled (AND) program provides assistance to persons with a medical disability until determined eligible for Supplemental Security Income Program. For more information or to apply, go to the local county department of social services, Appendix II.
Home Care Allowance  PAGE 31

The Home Care Allowance (HCA) is a capped state program that provides direct client payments monthly to eligible individuals for the purchase of services related to activities of daily living, which are necessary to enable the client to remain at home. For more information on the Home Care Allowance, contact the local county department of social/human services, Appendix II or go to www.cdhs.state.co.us/AAS/adultfinancial_HCA.htm

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families/Colorado Works  PAGE 31

Colorado’s TANF Program is known as Colorado Works and is designed to assist participants to become self sufficient by providing cash assistance and other supports, job preparedness and developing strategies and policies that focus on ensuring that participants are in work activities. For more information about TANF/Colorado Works, contact the local county department of social/human services, Appendix II, or go to www.colorado.gov/coloradoworks

Colorado Indigent Care Program  PAGE 34

Individuals and families who are not eligible for health and medical services through any of the CBMS programs, may be eligible to receive limited services through a Colorado Indigent Care Program (CICP) provider. For more information on CICP or to check on current levels of eligibility or to find a local provider, go to HCPF’s website at www.chcpf.state.co.us and click on the Medicaid link. From there, click on the Colorado Indigent Care Program (CICP) link.

Medicaid Breast & Cervical Cancer Program  PAGE 35

The Breast and Cervical Cancer Program provides full Medicaid benefits to uninsured women up to the age of 64 who meet the eligibility requirements. Eligibility for this program is not determined through the CBMS system. To apply and determine eligibility, women must go to a Colorado Women’s Wellness Connection (WWC) site in their local community to locate, call 303.692.2600, 1.866.692.2600 or go to: www.cdphe.state.co.us/pp/cwcci/index.html

Ryan White AIDS Program  PAGES 36 & 44

The Ryan White HIV/AIDS Program is a federal program that provides HIV-related health services. The program works with cities, states, and local community-based organization to provide services to more than half a million people each year. For more information or for contact information on the Ryan White AIDS program, go to page 36.

Kaiser Connections  PAGE 38

Kaiser Permanente’s community service program, Connections, provides low-cost healthcare coverage for families who otherwise could not afford health care. For more information on Kaiser Permanente’s Connections program, call 303.338.3490 or go to www.kaiserpermanente.org

Early Intervention Colorado  PAGE 39

Early Intervention Colorado for Infants, Toddlers, and Families is a program under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA - Part C) that provides a system of supports, services and rights for families who have infants or toddlers, from birth to age three, with disabilities or a condition associated with delays in their development. For more information on EI Colorado, call 1.888.777.4041 or go to: http://www.eicolorado.org/

Early & Periodic Screening, Diagnosis & Treatment (EPSDT)  PAGE 39

The EPSDT Program helps families access early identification and treatment of medical, dental, vision, hearing, mental health, and development problems for their children. For more information, or to speak to someone about finding a provider call the Nurse Support Line at 1.800.283.3221.

Older Americans Act Programs

The Older Americans Act was established in 1965 to improve the quality of life for all older Americans by helping them to remain independent and productive. The Older Americans Act was created to provide community-based services to persons age 60 and over to assist them to be economically self-sufficient or to live in their own homes and communities for as long as possible. For more information on these programs or to locate a local Area Agency on Aging, contact 303.866.2800 or go to: www.ColoradoAging.com

Health Care Program for Children With Special Needs

The Health Care Program for Children with Special Needs (HCP) is a resource for families, healthcare providers, and communities. The program goal is to improve the health, development, and well-being of Colorado’s children with special healthcare needs and their families by developing a system of healthcare services and supports for all families. These programs can have limits on the number of children that can be enrolled. For more information on the program, go to www.hcpcolorado.org or call 303.692.2370.

Nurse-Family Partnership

Through a partnership of local counties and the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment, the Colorado Nurse Home Visitor Program provides grants to public or private organizations in Colorado to provide regular, in-home, visiting nurse services to low-income, first-time mothers, with their consent, during their pregnancies and through their children’s second birthday. For more information, call 303.692.2943 or go to www.cdphe.state.co.us/ps/nursehome/index.html

Women, Infants and Children’s Nutrition Program (WIC)

The Women, Infants and Children’s program is a nutrition program for pregnant women; breastfeeding women (up to one year post partum); non-breastfeeding, postpartum women (up to six months postpartum); infants, and children up to 5 years of age. For more information on the WIC program and to find a local WIC program, contact 303.692.2400 or 1.800.688.7777, or go to www.cdphe.state.co.us/ps/wic

- Other resources, programs and services for assistance including energy, legal, housing, interpretation, and transportation
MEDICAL BENEFITS AND PUBLIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

Colorado’s children, adults, families, people with disabilities, and the elderly may be eligible for a wide range of health insurance, medical benefits and/or other public assistance programs in Colorado.

This section outlines the programs that different individuals may access, including the programs being supported by the Colorado Benefits Management System (CBMS) and other programs not accessed through CBMS.

Programs Accessed Through the Colorado Benefits Management System (CBMS)

The Colorado Benefits Management System is an information technology eligibility and payment system that issues benefits to qualified clients throughout the State of Colorado. CBMS was developed by the Colorado Department of Human Services and the Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing to determine eligibility and benefit amounts for a variety of social services programs administered by county departments of social/human services and select Medical Assistance sites (see Appendix II for contact information).

Application/Eligibility

The goal of CBMS is to improve applicants’ ability to access public assistance and medical benefits. There have been and may continue to be significant problems that impact the processing of applications and delivery of benefits. Individuals and families may apply for benefits at all county departments of human/social services and selected Medical Assistance (MA) sites - for a list of these providers go to Appendix II or go to: www.cbms.state.co.us/links/clientinformation/pdfs/CountyDSSandMADirectory.pdf, hit client information, then hit directory.

From the date of the signed application, the agency must act on the application:

- within 7 days for Expedited Food Stamps
- within 30 days for Food Stamps
- within 45 days for Medicaid, CHP+, Colorado Works and Old Age Pension
- within 60 days for Aid to the Blind/ Aid to the Needy and Disabled

Medicaid eligibility begins effective the date of the completed application or up to 3 months prior if the individual has medical bills and was otherwise eligible. The client will continue to receive benefits for 12 months if the client and household meet the criteria.

Applicants should receive a letter informing them whether they qualified and for which programs. If applicants do not qualify, they should be sent a letter explaining why they are not eligible and how to appeal if they feel they were denied wrongly.

How to Apply

Individuals applying for Medicaid, public assistance, and other medical programs through CBMS may need to provide proof or documentation before being determined eligible for programs and services. These may include: proof of age, proof of income, proof of citizenship or alien status, proof of residency, proof of resources, or other medical documents. Please check with your county department of human/social services (go to Appendix II) to find out what documentation you will need to bring.

Families and individuals should report any changes in their address or income to their county department of human/social services.

For More Information

For more information on applying for benefits for one of the public assistance or Medicaid programs, individuals and families may go to www.colorado.gov/hcpf to download an application for medical benefits or for an application for other public assistance programs.

People can also get some idea of whether they are eligible for benefits by going online and using PEAK (Program Eligibility and Application Kit) at: https://peak.state.co.us/selfservice/. Colorado expects to expand PEAK so that people can apply for medical and other benefits online.
Medicaid

Medicaid is a federal and state financed program that provides health and long-term care coverage for low-income children and their parents, the elderly and people with disabilities. The Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing administers Colorado’s Medicaid program.

Eligibility

Financial eligibility is determined through the Colorado Benefits Management System (CBMS) at the local county departments of human/social services and selected Medical Assistance sites (Appendix II).

Applicants must meet financial eligibility criteria for one or more Medicaid program categories in order to qualify for benefits. In order to be eligible for Medicaid, an individual must:

• Be a Colorado resident
• Be a citizen or qualified immigrant. A qualified immigrant includes, but is not limited to, persons who have been legal permanent residents for more than 5 years of the U.S. or its territories, or are refugees or asylees.
• Fall within the established earned and unearned income limits for the Medicaid program category applied for (see Medicaid Program Category descriptions).

Individuals and families might be eligible under more than one category of Medicaid. It is important to understand that just because someone is not eligible for one category, does not mean they might not be eligible for another. Anyone who is denied Medicaid eligibility or has their benefits terminated for any reason has a right to appeal. There are time limits to appeal on the back of the notice received by the individual or family. The individual or family may contact their local county department of human/social services or can go directly to the administrative law judge if they wish to exercise their right to appeal.

Retroactive Eligibility

Medicaid eligibility may be retroactive up to 3 months prior to the date of application. An applicant does not have to be eligible in the month of application to receive Retro Medicaid, however a client must meet all eligibility requirements during the month that the Retro Medicaid is requested. Medical expenses must be reported to be eligible for Retro Medicaid. It is important to ask for retroactive Medicaid when filling out an initial application for Medicaid.

Services

Basic Medicaid Services

While each Medicaid program may provide different or additional services to meet the specific needs of eligible individuals, individuals who are deemed eligible may receive the following basic covered services under Medicaid:

• Physician services & health clinics
• Inpatient & outpatient hospital
• Laboratory and X-ray services
• Prescription drugs
• Home health care
• Family planning
• Medical equipment
• Community mental health services or institutional care
• Early Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment (EPSDT), care to identify, prevent and treat health problems of children under age 21
• Hospice care
• Long-term care in a nursing facility, alternative care facility, or at home, when necessary
• Dental Care (for children and for adult emergency care only)
• Eyeglasses (for children and for adults after surgery only).

Medicaid is also required to provide emergency and non-emergency transportation services for children and adults.

Providers

Basic healthcare services are delivered by Medicaid providers and managed care organizations and reimbursed by the program. In addition to managed care organizations and private physicians, other health care providers that accept Medicaid include: federally qualified community health centers, family practice residency programs, rural health clinics, some hospitals, and other health clinics.

For more information on Medicaid programs or to apply, contact the local county departments of social/human services or selected Medical Assistance sites listed at www.colorado.gov/hcpf/clients & applicants or contact Medicaid customer service at 303.866.3513 (metro Denver) or 1.800.221.3943 (outside the metro Denver area).

Medicaid Program Categories

Family and Children’s Medicaid Eligibility Categories

1931 Family Medicaid
This program is intended to ensure that families can be eligible for Medicaid whether or not they are on cash assistance through Colorado Works (see page 31). 1931 Family Medicaid also includes Transitional Medicaid and four-Month Extended, see below.

The 1931 Medicaid program enables families, including the father, mother, and children to be eligible for Medicaid. The household must have at least one dependent child who is either:

- Under 18 years of age; or
- Between the age of 18 and 19 who are full-time students in a secondary school or equivalent and expected to graduate before age 19 (eligible through the month of graduation).

In addition, applicants must:

- Meet Medicaid eligibility criteria (see page 20);
- Have household income less than or equal to the AFDC Need Standard (see page 18);

Families must be eligible for, but do not have to apply for cash assistance to get 1931 Medicaid. Two-parent families can receive Medicaid as well as one-parent families. If a “boyfriend/girlfriend” is the biological or legal parent of the dependent child and is living in the home, then their income/resources are counted in determining household eligibility for Medicaid. Family definitions and whose income is counted for purposes of Medicaid eligibility can be complicated so check with your county or Medical Assistance site.

Individuals eligible for 1931 Medicaid will be eligible for the basic Medicaid services.

Transitional Medicaid
Transitional Medicaid applies to clients who were on 1931 Medicaid for at least 3 of the last 6 months, but their earned income increased and put the household over the 1931 income limit. Transitional Medicaid provides a guarantee of 6 additional months of eligibility, up to a potential 12 month maximum, and continues the benefits and services provided under 1931. Applicants must work with their county department of social services or an MA site to provide Transitional Benefit Reports in the 4th, 7th, and 10th month of transitional benefits to remain eligible. Income cannot exceed 185% of FPL (see page 16) for the 7th through 12th month of transitional benefits.

Four-Month Extended Medicaid
Four-Month Extended Medicaid applies to clients who were on 1931 for at least 3 of the last 6 months, but the child/spousal support income put the household over the 1931 limit. Extended Medicaid provides a guarantee of four additional months of eligibility and continues the benefits and services provided under 1931. No additional reporting is required to remain eligible.

Baby Care-Kids Care
The Baby Care-Kids Care (BCKC) program is part of the Medicaid program and provides medical assistance for children and pregnant women. BCKC is broken down into the following programs:

- Qualified and Expanded Child;
- Qualified and Expanded Pregnant Women;
- Ribicoff;
- Eligible Needy Newborn; and
- Legal Immigrant Prenatal.

Pregnant women qualify for BCKC based solely on income and pregnancy status. The fetus is counted as a household member for purposes of determining income eligibility. When looking at income, the income of certain family members who live in the same household counts toward the income limit. For example, for pregnant women, the husband’s income is counted. For a child, the income of the natural or adoptive parent(s) is counted. The incomes of unrelated people living in the applicant’s household or of related family members not living in the household do not count. For specific income criteria for the different BCKC programs, see specific program information below.

Services provided through BCKC include all of the basic covered services of Medicaid. In addition, pregnant women receive prenatal care, labor and delivery, family planning services and all other necessary medical care during pregnancy and for 60 days postpartum. Children receive complete well and sick medical care and immunizations in addition to the basic Medicaid services. In addition, any children enrolled in Medicaid up to age 21 are eligible for the EPSDT services. Through EPSDT, all children on Medicaid are eligible to receive regular medical, dental, vision, development and hearing check-ups, in-depth diagnosis of problems and treatment of any identified problems (see page 39). All services through Baby Care Kids Care are free to pregnant women and children.

Qualified and Expanded Child BCKC
The BCKC Qualified and Expanded Child program provides Medicaid benefits for children, ages 0-5. A child in a family with a household income at or below the AFDC Need Standard (see page 18) is eligible for the Qualified Child BCKC program. A child in a family with a household income at or below 133% of FPL (see page 17) is eligible for the Expanded Child BCKC program.

Qualified and Expanded Pregnant Women BCKC
The BCKC Qualified and Expanded Pregnant Women program provides Medicaid benefits for women whose pregnancy has been verified by doctor’s statement or staff observation. A pregnant woman with her portion of the household income at or below AFDC Need Standard (see page 18) is eligible for the Qualified Pregnant Women BCKC Program. A pregnant woman with her portion of household income at or below 133% of FPL (see page 17) is eligible for the Expanded Pregnant Women BCKC program. Eligibility for women ends 60 days after the child is born or the pregnancy is terminated (postpartum).

Ribicoff BCKC
The Ribicoff Medicaid program provides Medicaid benefits to children ages 6-18. To be eligible, the household income for the child must be at or below 100% FPL (see page 17). The child will continue to receive benefits for 12 months if the child and household continue to meet the above stated criteria.

Eligible Needy Newborns BCKC
The Eligible Needy Newborns BCKC program provides Medicaid benefits for children, ages 0-1, whose mother was on Medicaid at the time of birth. A new application is not required, the only requirement is that someone report the birth and have the baby added to the mother’s case. In order to extend benefits for the child turning 1, an application needs to be submitted for one of the other Medicaid programs.

Legal Immigrant Prenatal BCKC
The Legal Immigrant Prenatal Medicaid program is for pregnant women who do not meet the eligibility criteria for Qualified or Expanded Pregnant Women programs because of their “alien” status. Women are eligible if:

• Their pregnancy has been verified by a doctor’s statement or staff observation

• They are legal residents of the United States and

• Their portion of household income is at or below 133% FPL (see page 17).

Services provided through the Legal Immigrant Prenatal Medicaid program include all of the basic covered services of Medicaid. In addition, pregnant women receive prenatal care, labor and delivery, family planning services and all other necessary medical care during pregnancy and for 60 days postpartum.

Undocumented Residents - Emergency Medical Services
Undocumented residents may be eligible for Family Medical Assistance benefits through the 1931 or BCKC Medicaid programs. Undocumented residents can receive benefits only if they:

• Meet all other program eligibility criteria (residency, age, income, and resources), with the exception of citizenship, and

• Have a “life or limb threatening” emergency medical condition, including labor and delivery, that is verified by a doctor’s statement.

The applicant must apply for Family Medical Assistance at the time of each “life or limb threatening” medical condition. This program covers labor and delivery only—prenatal care is not covered.

Medicaid Psych < 21
Children under age 21, receiving active treatment as an inpatient in a psychiatric facility may be eligible for Medicaid benefits. Children are eligible if their individual income is within the AFDC Need Standard limits (see page 18). Children are eligible to receive benefits for 12 months, if they continue to meet the above criteria, and need to reapply annually.

Medicaid Home & Community Based Service Waiver Programs
In addition to other Medicaid program categories, there are several Medicaid Waiver programs that provide Medicaid benefits to specific populations with special needs who meet specific eligibility criteria. These waivers can provide in-home services for individuals who qualify both financially and functionally. This program is designed to help individuals stay in the least restrictive environment possible. Waiver Programs are not mandated by the federal government, must be cost effective, and can limit enrollment. The waiver program categories are listed below.

For more information about the Medicaid HCBS waiver programs, contact local county departments of social/human services (see Appendix II) or the enrollment number listed for each program.

Children’s Home and Community Based Waiver (HCBS)
This waiver program provides Medicaid benefits in the home or community to disabled children who would otherwise be ineligible for Medicaid due to excess parental income and/or resources. Children, ages birth through 17, who are critically ill or disabled, not eligible for SSI due to parents’ income, and who are at risk of nursing facility or hospital placement are eligible. Functional eligibility is determined by Single Entry Point (SEP) Agencies, Community Centered Boards or other Case Management Agencies (see Appendix I). For more information, call 303.866.4770.

Children’s Extensive Support Waiver (CES)
This waiver program provides children with developmental disabilities or delays, or who are most in need due to the severity of the disability with Medicaid benefits and additional targeted services and supports. Children, birth through age 4, with a developmental disability or delay, with intensive behavioral or medical needs, and who are at risk of institutionalization are eligible. Functional eligibility is determined by the Community Centered Boards (see Appendix I, back of guide). For more information, call 303.866.7467 or 303.866.7455.

Children’s Habilitation Residential Program Waiver
This waiver program provides residential services to children and youth in foster care who have a developmental disability and extraordinary needs. Children, from birth to 21 years of age, who are at risk for institutionalization, and who are placed through the county departments of social services, have a developmental disability and extraordinary service needs, and for whom services cannot be provided at the county negotiated rate are eligible. To apply, contact the county department of social/human services for children/youth in out-of-home placement (see Appendix II). For more information, call 303.866.3546.

Brain Injury Waiver (BI)
This waiver program provides two levels of care for persons with a brain injury. Level 1 waivers provide persons with a recent brain injury with Medicaid benefits to promote an early discharge from a hospital or rehabilitation environment. These individuals must be in the process of discharging from a hospital, rehabilitation hospital, or rehabilitation facility. Level 2 waivers provide people with a brain injury who have maximized their rehabilitation potential and need specialized nursing and long-term care in the community. Individuals, ages 16 through 64, with a brain injury within an approved range of diagnoses codes are eligible. Functional eligibility is determined by the Single Entry Point (SEP) agencies (see Appendix IV) and must meet the hospital or rehabilitation facility level of care. For more information, call 303.866.3728.

Mentally Ill Waiver (MI)
This waiver program provides persons with major mental illness with a community alternative to nursing facility care. Individuals, age 18 and older, with a diagnosis of a major mental illness are eligible. Functional eligibility is determined through the SEP agencies (see Appendix IV). For more information, call 303.866.3728.
Persons Living with AIDS Waiver (PCWA)
This waiver program provides persons with HIV/AIDS with a community alternative to nursing facility or hospital care. Individuals of all ages with an HIV/AIDS diagnosis are eligible. Functional eligibility is determined through the Single Entry Point (SEP) agencies (see Appendix IV). For more information, call 303.866.2148.

Elderly, Blind and Disabled Waiver (EBD)
This waiver program provides elderly, blind, and disabled persons with a community alternative to nursing facility care. Individuals with a functional impairment (aged 65+) and blind persons or physically disabled (ages 18-64) are eligible. Functional eligibility is determined at the Single Entry Point (SEP) agencies (see Appendix IV). For more information, call 303.866.3728.

Supported Living Services Waiver (SLS)
This waiver program provides persons with developmental disabilities with supported living in the home or community. Individuals, age 18 or older, who are developmentally disabled and can either live independently with limited supports or who, if they need extensive supports, are already receiving that high level of support from other sources, such as family, are eligible. Functional eligibility is determined by the Community Centered Boards (see Appendix I). For more information, call 303.866.7459 or 303.866.7455.

Developmentally Disabled Waiver (DD)
This waiver program provides persons with developmental disabilities with services and supports out of the family home, which allow them to continue to live in the community. Individuals, age 18 and older, who require extensive supports to live safely, including access to 24-hour supervision, who do not have other resources for meeting those needs, and who meet the intermediate care facility mentally retarded level of care, are eligible. Functional eligibility is determined by the Community Centered Boards (see Appendix I). For more information, call 303.866.7460 or 303.866.7455.

Consumer-Directed Care for the Elderly
This waiver program will serve disabled elderly persons, ages 55 and older, who are new or current Medicaid Elderly Blind Disabled clients and will allow clients to direct their own care and choose their own attendant support. Functional eligibility is determined through the Single Entry Point (SEP) agencies (see Appendix IV). For more information, call 303.866.3358.

Children’s Autism Waiver
This waiver program will serve children, birth through 6 years old, who have been diagnosed with autism and who meet the nursing facility level of care. Functional eligibility will be determined by the Community Centered Boards (see Appendix I). For more information, call 303.866.4770.

Additional Waiver Programs
In addition, there are several waiver programs that will be implemented in the coming years, including:

Children’s Hospice Waiver
This waiver program will serve children, birth to 19 years, who are critically ill and are at a hospice level of care and receiving services from a hospice agency. The agency responsible for determining medical eligibility has not been determined yet. For more information, call 303.866.4654.

Medicaid – Previously Incarcerated Individuals
Individuals who have been paroled/released from incarceration in public institutions, correctional facilities, or community corrections programs, may apply for Medicaid benefits or may have benefits reinstated effective the release date, if they were Medicaid recipients prior to incarceration. Individuals who are currently inmates of public institutions, correctional facilities, or community corrections programs are not eligible.

Medicaid/Medicare
Clients can have both Medicare and Medicaid. Medicare is a federally operated program for individuals who are aged 65+ or who have been receiving Social Security Disability Insurance for 24 months. Medicare is the primary payer before Medicaid. Medicare Savings Programs are Medicaid programs available to lower income Medicare recipients to help them pay for all or some of the cost sharing amounts in the Medicare program, (for example, premiums and copayments). To qualify for a Medicare Savings Program a person must have Medicare, be eligible for Medicare Part A, and meet certain income and asset guidelines. There are three Medicare Savings Programs, each with different eligibility criteria and each providing different levels of benefits to recipients: Qualified Medicare Beneficiary Program, Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary Program, and the Qualified Individual Program. If a person qualifies for a Medicare Savings Program, he/she may qualify to have his/her Medicare Part A and Medicare Part B premiums covered, as well as co-insurance and deductibles.

The Pickle Program
Many people now receiving Social Security disability or retirement benefits who formerly received Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits may be eligible for Medicaid if their income and resources fall within certain limits. This category, known as “Pickle,” was named for the member of Congress who sponsored the amendment creating it. Potential Pickle eligibles are people who are currently receiving a social security check, AND, after April 1977 ever got an SSI check in the same month as their social security check, or got SSI in the month before their social security started. People who meet this criteria and are low income should consider applying for Medicaid.

Disabled Widow(ers)
Disabled widow(ers) are ages 50 - 64 who lose Social Security Income (SSI) and/or Colorado Supplement due to receipt of Social Security Administration benefits as a disabled widow(er). Income limits are the SSI limits (see page 18).

Refugees
Individuals who are deemed by the Immigration and Naturalization Administration to be refugees, asylees or victims of trafficking receive medical benefits during the first 8 months upon entry to the United States through Medicaid or the Refugee Medical Assistance program administered through the Colorado Refugee Services Program. For more information on these other medical programs, contact the local county departments of social/human services (Appendix II) or contact Medicaid customer service at 303.866.3513 (metro Denver) or 1.800.221.3943 (outside the metro Denver area).

Presumptive Eligibility for Pregnant Women & Children
The presumptive eligibility (PE) program allows pregnant women and children who meet an initial eligibility screening to receive medical care during the process of verifying eligibility. PE eligibility is only determined at designated eligibility sites, to see a list of eligibility sites go to www.colorado.gov/hcft/ and click on “clients & applicants.”

To qualify for PE, an applicant must self-declare income at or below 205% of the Federal Poverty Level. In addition, they must provide documentation of legal immigration status or citizenship. Once enrolled in the PE program, all medical services will be provided for clients throughout the verification process. If enrollment eligibility is properly verified, a client will continue to receive healthcare services. If eligibility is not verified, the cost of medical services already provided will be covered but additional services will not be covered. For additional information on presumptive eligibility benefits and enrollment, contact the Department of Health Care Policy and Financing 1.800.221.3493 (outside of Denver area) 1.300.866.3513 (inside Denver- Metro area).

Child Health Plan Plus (CHP+)
CHP+ is health insurance coverage for low-income children under 18 years of age, who are not eligible for Medicaid, and whose families have incomes at or below 205% of the federal poverty level (see page 17). Coverage includes a comprehensive package of benefits designed specifically for children and youth. CHP+ enrollees have 12 months of continuous eligibility.

Eligibility
Applicants are eligible for CHP+ if they:
- are Children age 18 and under, or age 19 and over and pregnant; and
- are financially qualified, above Medicaid eligibility and below 205% of federal poverty level
- are Colorado residents
- are permanent legal residents who have had an Alien Registration number for at least 5 years, a refugee or asylee
SECTION TWO: Health & Other Programs, Providers & Resources

MEDICAL BENEFITS AND PUBLIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

• do not have other health insurance
• are not residents of correctional or mental institutions.

Children are not eligible if they are:
• are eligible for Medicaid
• have been covered by an employer health insurance plan during the last three months where the employer paid 50% or more of the premium cost
• are eligible for state employees’ health coverage

Note: An exception to the three month rule is if children lose coverage due to a parent’s loss of or change in employment.

Income

Children from families who are not eligible for Medicaid and whose household income is below 205% of the federal poverty level (see page 17) may be eligible for the CHP+ program. Note: Certain expenses may be deducted from a family’s gross income, so families can make more than this and still qualify for CHP+.

Income Eligibility up to 205% of Federal Poverty Level
Effective April 1, 2009 – March 31, 2010

*A pregnant woman counts as two people

To Apply

Applications are available at schools, provider offices, hospitals, or by going to www.colorado.gov/hcpf and may be available at health related events, churches, or from other community based organizations. One pay check stub from the current month or the previous month and a signed application and a social security number or an alien registration number (A#) (or other adequate proof of immigrant status) are necessary for a CHP+ application. Eligibility is to be determined within 45 days from the date of the receipt of the completed application. A child is enrolled in CHP+ if found to be eligible the date the completed application is received. A family has the right to appeal if they feel they were wrongly denied.

Services

CHP+ covers
• Medical office visits to doctors and clinics for preventive, primary, acute, and specialty care including well child care and immunizations
• Emergency care, urgent, and after-hours care
• Inpatient and outpatient hospital services
• Behavioral and mental health care
• Home health care and skilled nursing facility services
• Prescriptions
• Dental care with services limited to $600 per year
• Limited coverage for: vision and audiological services; alcohol and substance abuse services; physical, occupational, and speech therapy services; durable medical equipment; and transplant services. Depending on the geographic area in which an enrollee lives, services are provided either by a Health Maintenance Organization or network of providers that are managed by the state. Children are covered for a full year unless they become eligible or enrolled in Medicaid or the family becomes insured or moves out of Colorado.

Cost
CHP+ families may pay a small annual fee determined by their family size and income and a small co-payment per medical visit. The fees may not exceed 5% of annual income.

• For those below 100% of the federal poverty level (FPL), the premium and copayments are waived.
• Families below 151% of FPL have no enrollment fee, but pay a small co-payment for provider visits and dental procedures, other than preventive care.
• Families with incomes between 151% and 205% of FPL pay an annual enrollment fee along with small co-payments for provider visits and dental procedures. Depending on family size and income, some families have to pay an annual enrollment fee. The cost is:
  • $25 to enroll one child for a year if the family’s income exceeds 151% and is below 205% FPL
  • $35 to enroll two or more children for a year if the family’s income exceeds 151% and is below 205% FPL.

Families that include an eligible pregnant woman do not pay an enrollment fee. No copayments apply to preventative services. American Indians and Alaskan Natives are exempt from cost sharing requirements.

Depending on family size and income, some families have to make co-payments at the time of services. Generally co-payments will be:

• $1-$5 per visit for medical care
• $3-$15 for urgent and emergency care, and
• $5 per procedure for fillings and extractions.

There are no fees charged to clients for preventive medical and dental care, including check-ups, shots, teeth cleanings and dental x-rays, which encourages the use of cost-effective preventive services.

Old Age Pension Program
The Old Age Pension (OAP) program was established in 1937 to provide basic retirement income, healthcare coverage, and cash benefits to individuals aged 60 years and older. In addition, individuals may be eligible for the OAP Health & Medical Program (see below) or the OAP Dental Program (see page 60).

Eligibility
To qualify for OAP benefits, individuals:

• must be 60 years or older
• must be a resident of Colorado
• must be a citizen of the United States, a naturalized citizen, or an eligible legal resident.
• must have an income of less than $699.00 per month beginning January 2009. Other income may offset the maximum OAP payment. Income is considered as anything that can be used to meet expenses such as for food, clothing, or shelter. Some types of income are Social Security benefits, SSI, Veteran’s Assistance, retirement pension, disability benefits, wages, etc.
• must have countable resources less than a maximum of $2,000.00 for an individual or $3,000.00 for a married couple. Some types of resources are cash (not spent in the month you receive it), checking or savings accounts, certificates of deposits, vehicles, boats, motor homes, stocks and bonds, life insurance, burial contracts or policies, and secondary property
• may be required to apply for Supplemental Security Income benefits.
Additional information can be obtained from the county department of social/human services or at www.cdhs.state.co.us/AAS/adultfinancial_pension.htm. Additional information on the OAP dental program can be found at: www.cdphe.state.co.us/pp/oralhealth/OAP.html.

The Old Age Pension program provides some coverage for inpatient hospital care, physician services, emergency medical transportation, home health services, laboratory and x-ray services, outpatient services, pharmacy, and emergency dental services. In addition, clients are eligible to apply for the Colorado Indigent Care Program (CICP, see page 34), for benefits not covered by the OAP Health and Medical Care program.

Clients should contact their county offices of Social/Human Services to receive information on and apply for the Old Age Pension Health and Medical Care Program (see Appendix II).

Adult Foster Care

The Adult Foster Care program provides care on a 24-hour basis to frail elderly, physically or emotionally disabled adults, 18 years of age and over, who do not require 24-hour medical care in licensed Assisted Living Residences. The Assisted Living Residences must meet all applicable federal, state, and local laws and regulations, and have been certified by the Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing or its designee as a provider of Adult Foster Care Services. Services provided include but are not limited to:

- Availability of three balanced meals per day with provision for special diets when those diets have been prescribed as part of a medical plan
- Assistance with transportation
- Protective oversight
- Assistance with basic personal tasks such as bathing, hair care, and dressing
- Supervision of self-administration of medications
- Housekeeping services such as changing of bed linen, cleaning of living areas, and rearrangement of furniture as needed to promote freer mobility
- Laundering of residents’ clothing and bedding, and

- Opportunities for structured recreational activities and socializing.

Eligibility for the Adult Foster Care program is based on financial need, the client’s need for 24 hour supervision and assistance with activities of daily living, appropriateness for the AFC Program and available appropriations. Legal immigrants, who meet the eligibility requirements for Adult Foster Care are eligible for the program. For more information, contact the local county department of social/human services (see Appendix II).

Food Assistance Program

The Colorado State Food Assistance Program assists low income individuals and families who need assistance purchasing food. Individuals and families should apply for food stamp benefits at their local county department of social services. The Food Assistance Program is offered in at least one location in all Colorado counties. The county worker will interview applicants and determine the household eligibility for benefits. They will provide the applicant with an Electronic Benefits Transactions (EBT) card that can be used to purchase groceries at any participating grocery store or other retailer. Households must meet eligibility requirements and provide information – and verification – about their household circumstances. U.S. citizens and some aliens who are admitted for permanent residency may qualify.

To participate in the Food Assistance Program:

- Households may have no more than $2,000 in countable resources, such as a bank account ($3,000 if at least one person in the household is age 60 or older, or is disabled). Certain resources are not counted, such as a home and lot. Special rules are used to determine the resource value of vehicles owned by household members.
- The gross monthly income of most households must be 130% FPL or less. Gross income includes all cash payments to the household, with a few exceptions specified in the law or the program regulations.
- Net monthly income must be 100% FPL or less. Net income is figured by adding all of a household’s gross income, and then taking a number of approved deductions for child care, some shelter costs and... other expenses. Households with an elderly or disabled member are subject only to the net income test.

- Most able-bodied adult applicants must meet certain work requirements.
- All household members must provide a Social Security number, apply for one, or be a qualified immigrant. For more information about Food Stamps, contact the local county department of social/human services (Appendix II), or go to www.cdhs.state.co.us/fap/.

Supplemental Security Income Program (SSI)

Once an individual is determined eligible for SSI, they are automatically eligible for Medicaid. The SSI program makes cash assistance payments to aged, blind and disabled people (including children under 18) who have limited income and resources. The federal government funds SSI from general tax revenues. To be eligible, individuals must:

- Have little or no income or resources
- Be a U.S. citizen or meet the requirements for non-citizens
- Be considered medically disabled
- Be a resident of one of the 50 States, District of Columbia, or Northern Mariana Islands
- File an application
- File for any and all benefits for which they are eligible
- Not be working, or if working, earning less than the required amount if impairment is other than blindness (if blind, this requirement does not apply)

Once individuals are enrolled, eligibility continues until individuals medically recover or no longer meet a requirement that is not related to their disability. For more information on the Supplemental Security Income program or to locate local Social Security offices, call Social Security at 1.800.772.1213.

Aid to the Blind

The Aid to the Blind (AB) program provides cash assistance to low-income Colorado residents who are under age 60 and who have at least a six-month total disability that precludes them from working. The goal of the program is to provide interim financial assistance while waiting for approval of Supplemental Security Income (SSI). The AB program provides financial benefits up to $200 per month beginning January 2009. Any other income such as wages, Social Security benefits (SSA), Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Veteran’s Assistance, etc. may reduce the amount of the AB payment. The AB benefits are prorated the first month of application based on the date all eligibility requirements are met. There are no medical benefits provided by the AB program.

To be eligible, an individual must

- Be under 60 years old to qualify for the AB program
- Be a Colorado resident
- Meet the citizenship requirements (must be a citizen of the United States, a naturalized citizen, or an eligible legal resident)
- Apply for Supplemental Security Income benefits. You must provide verification of your application. This can be a receipt or letter from Social Security stating you applied for SSI

An AB applicant/recipient may be eligible to receive up to $200.00 per month beginning January 2009. Other income may offset the maximum AB payment. Income is considered as anything that can be used to meet expenses such as for food, clothing, or shelter. Some types of income are Social Security benefits, SSA, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Veteran’s Assistance, retirement pension, disability benefits, wages, etc. An AB applicant/recipient may have countable resources up to a maximum of $2,000.00 for an individual or $3,000.00 for a married couple. Some types of resources are cash (not spent in the month you receive it), checking or savings accounts, certificates of deposits, vehicles, boats, motor homes, stocks and bonds, life insurance, burial contracts or policies, and secondary property, etc.

To qualify to receive AB benefits you must meet all eligibility criteria.
For more information or to apply, go to the local county department of social services, Appendix II, or www.cdhs.state.co.us/AAS/adultfinancial_blind.htm.

Aid to the Needy Disabled (AND)

The Aid To The Needy Disabled (AND) program provides cash assistance to low-income Colorado residents, age 18 to 59, who have at least a six-month total disability that precludes them from working. The goal of the program is to provide interim financial assistance while waiting for approval of Supplemental Security Income (SSI). The AND program provides financial benefits up to $200 per month beginning January 2009. Any other income such as wages, Social Security benefits (SSA), Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Veteran’s Assistance, etc. may reduce the amount of the AND payment. The AND benefits are prorated the first month of application based on the date all eligibility requirements are met. There are no medical benefits provided by the AND program.

To qualify for AND benefits, individuals must:

- Be 18-59 years of age
- Have been or expect to be totally disabled for 6 months or more
- Have total gross income below the current maximum grant per month (changes annually, individuals may contact their local county department of social services for more information, see Appendix II)
- Have resources below $2,000 for an individual or $3,000 for a couple
- Be a U.S. Citizen, a naturalized citizen or an eligible alien
- Be a resident of Colorado, and apply for Supplemental Security Income benefits. You must provide verification of your application. This can be a receipt or letter from Social Security stating you applied for SSI
- Cooperate with alcohol or controlled substance abuse programs and remain substance-free if the individual’s disability primary diagnosis is drug or alcohol addiction

For more information on the AND Program, contact the local county department of social/human services by going to Appendix II or go to www.cdhs.state.co.us/AAS/adultfinancial_HCA.htm.

Home Care Allowance

The Home Care Allowance (HCA) is a capped state program that provides direct client payments monthly to eligible individuals for the purchase of services related to activities of daily living, which are necessary to enable the client to remain at home. The payment amount is added to any basic assistance grant (SSI, AND, AB) the client receives and varies according to the client need for paid care. The client pays the service provider, who may be a family member, neighbor, or agency. The Home Care Allowance is a non-entitlement program designed to serve those clients with the lowest functional abilities and the greatest need for paid care. Eligibility for and authorized amounts of the Home Care Allowance are subject to available appropriations. For more information on the Home Care Allowance, contact the local county department of social/human services by going to Appendix II or to www.cdhs.state.co.us/AAS/adultfinancial_HCA.htm.

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF)/Colorado Works

Colorado’s TANF Program is known as Colorado Works and is designed to assist participants to gain self sufficiency by promoting job preparation, providing cash assistance and work supports, and to develop strategies and policies that focus on ensuring that participants are in work activities as soon as possible so that the state is able to meet or exceed work participation rates specified in the federal law. The Colorado Works program operates in all counties in Colorado and is administered locally by the county departments of human/social services. Each county enters into a performance contract with the Colorado Department of Human Services and has written county policies describing its program plans. Counties develop their program plans to deliver the most appropriate benefits and services to the eligible participants in their communities. These program plans must meet federal and state statutory and regulatory requirements.

Basic Cash Assistance Eligibility

Individuals who are eligible for Colorado Works Basic Cash Assistance include dependent children under the age of 18; dependent children between the ages of 18 and 19 who are full-time students in secondary school, home school or in the equivalent level of vocational or... technical training and expected to complete the training by age 19; and, the parents or caretaker relatives of these children.

It also includes:

- Expectant parents in at least the sixth month of pregnancy
- Qualified aliens entering the country before 8/22/96
- Qualified aliens (entering the country on or after 8/22/96 who have been in the country for five or more years) and other categories such as refugees
- Families in which the children are at risk of out-of-home placement
- Indians/Native Americans.

The following persons are not eligible for all Colorado Works benefits or services:

- Fugitive felons and parole and probation violators
- Persons convicted of drug-related felonies after 7-1-97, unless the county has determined such person has taken action toward rehabilitation, and
- Persons who failed to provide a social security number or proof of application for a social security number if a number has not been issued.

In addition, for eligibility, Colorado Works does:

- Not impose different eligibility criteria or benefit levels on families moving into Colorado from other states
- Not impose a family cap
- Require the assignment of child support rights as a condition of eligibility for Colorado Works
- Require the family to sign an Individual Responsibility Contract
- Not require families to include half siblings if at least one of the half siblings is receiving child support
- Disregard two-thirds of a participant’s income for the first twelve cumulative months of assistance
- Treat two parents as the same as single-parent families, and
- Allow a family to have resources up to $15,000.

The amount of the Basic Cash Assistance grant is determined by a statutorily authorized need standard that takes into account the number of adults and children in the household, as well as income and resources. This need standard is then used to calculate the grant amount. Adult members of the assistance unit are limited to 60 months of TANF assistance during their lifetime. All dependent children are exempt from time limits. Up to 20% of the caseload may receive an extension of federal TANF assistance beyond the 60-month lifetime limit if their cases meet hardship or domestic violence criteria. No extensions will be formally granted until the adult has received TANF benefits for 60 months. All extensions will be granted by the county department of human/social services based on hardship or domestic violence reasons defined in Colorado Works/TANF rules.

Eligibility for Other Benefits and Services

Colorado Works also allows counties to provide additional benefits and services to those receiving Basic Cash Assistance (known as Other Assistance) and to participants who do not meet the eligibility criteria for Basic Cash Assistance (known as County and/or State Diversion). The federal government allows states to provide non-recurrent, short-term benefits and services to families that the state defines as “needy” under their state plan. In Colorado, the definition of “needy” is further defined by each county, but cannot exceed the level set by the state, which is family gross income of under $75,000 per year. Benefits and services offered to these participants are based on the same general eligibility criteria described above. The Family Preservation Program, operated under the Child Welfare Program, provides services to families in which the children are at risk of out-of-home placement, and adheres to the eligibility criteria described above, as well as the following criteria:

- The family consists of child(ren) living with a caretaker relative, or parent(s) with unborn child(ren)
- The children in foster care or juvenile justice facilities meet the criteria in effect on September 30, 1995
- The family qualifies for family preservation services as were determined under the standards in effect on September 30, 1995, and
- The family has signed a treatment plan.
To Apply
To apply for Colorado Works, go to the local county department of social/human services (Appendix II). Applications for Colorado Works benefits must be processed within 45 days. For persons receiving on-going basic cash benefits, a redetermination of eligibility must be completed every 12 months with on-going reporting requirements that the recipient must meet. Caretaker relatives are required to notify the agency within five days if a child has left the home and is expected to be gone more than 45 days. Assistance will be denied/discontinued to meet the needs of a caretaker relative who fails to meet this requirement. Exceptions to this requirement are granted for: children receiving medical care or education, which requires them to live away from home; children visiting an absent parent; and children in temporary foster placement.

Benefits & Services (County Implementation)
As described above, Colorado Works benefits and services include Basic Cash Assistance grants, Other Assistance, and State and County Diversion. County plans describe the types and amounts of other assistance as well as whether and in what form diversion payments are made. These will vary from county to county. Counties may provide other assistance in the form of cash assistance, lump sum payments, payments for specific items, and vouchers according to their county plan. Other benefits and services include the following:

- Colorado offers participants Individual Development Accounts, which are essentially savings accounts that can be used for specific items and are not subject to income calculations when determining eligibility;
- Colorado allows county departments to use Colorado Works funds to provide vouchers for state approved job placement agencies;
- Colorado provides family planning services not available through Medicaid;
- Colorado provides Colorado Works funds for home heating and cooling costs;
- Colorado provides employment incentives to participants or employers as determined necessary by the county plans, and
- Colorado screens for domestic violence and refers domestic violence victims for needed services. (Will screen as a part of the assessment process but will not exempt domestic violence victims from time limits and other requirements for work participation unless indicated by the assessment.)

The assessment focuses on identifying what services or assistance the family needs to achieve self-sufficiency. Essentially, counties can offer a wide array of services to participants as long as those services are intended to meet one of the purposes of the program and are designed to help participants achieve long-term self-sufficiency. All applicants for Colorado Works are assessed no later than 30 days after the application date. A contract between the individual adult member of the family and the county agency, known as an Individual Responsibility Contract (IRC), focuses on each party's responsibilities. The provision of services or other benefits will be based on the individual needs of the family as outlined in the IRC or treatment plan. Some families will receive one-time payments, some will receive only family preservation services, some will receive monthly cash payments, and others will receive a combination of services and monthly cash payments.

Work Participation: All adults who have received assistance for 24 cumulative months or who are determined to be work ready, whichever is earlier, are required to participate in a state or county defined work activity except those with a domestic violence waiver or those single parents with a child under six for whom childcare is unavailable. Single custodial parents with a child under age of one are not exempt unless specified in the county plan. Failure to participate in work activities without good cause results in a sanction, determined by the county department of social/human services. Caretaker relatives who are the single adults in a family with a child under age six are not sanctioned if their lack of participation is due to unavailability of childcare, however the time limits still apply. Colorado considers childcare unavailable if childcare is inaccessible, unaffordable, or unsuitable as defined in each county plan. All participants will be notified in writing of the criteria for this exemption, how to apply for the exemption, and the effect of this exemption on time limits. County departments of human/social services determine the good cause reasons for failure. to participate in work activities. County departments will determine, in accordance with a family’s individual assessment, if the adult(s) is required to participate in work prior to the 24-month limit.

Applicants and participants of Colorado Works whose basic cash assistance benefits have been denied, reduced, or discontinued may appeal such decisions through the appeal process established by CDHS. All disputes regarding the contents of an IRC may be appealed either to the county or state or both.

For more information about TANF/Colorado Works, contact the local county department of social/human services (Appendix II), or go to www.colorado.gov/coloradoworks.

Colorado Indigent Care Program
Individuals and families who are not eligible for health and medical services through any of the CBMS programs, may be eligible to receive limited services through a Colorado Indigent Care Program (CICP) provider. Individuals and families may find a CICP provider in their local community by going to the Dept of Health Care Policy and Financing’s website at www.chcpf.state.co.us and click on the Medicaid link. From there, click on the Colorado Indigent Care Program (CICP) link. The link for participating providers is on the bottom of that page.

CICP distributes federal and state funds to partially compensate qualified healthcare providers for uncompensated costs associated with services rendered to the indigent population. Qualified health care providers who receive this funding deliver discounted health care services to Colorado residents, migrant workers and legal immigrants with limited financial resources who are uninsured or underinsured and not eligible for benefits under the Medicaid program or the Children’s Basic Health Plan. The Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing (HCPF) administers CICP. This is not a health insurance program.

Services
Services are restricted to participating hospitals and clinics throughout the state. Also, medical services vary by participating healthcare provider. The responsible physician or healthcare provider determines what services will be covered. These services may include, but are not limited to emergency care, inpatient care, outpatient care and prescription drugs.

Eligibility Requirements
CICP eligibility is determined at the provider level, not the county. The provider uses the basic CICP application to enroll families into CICP. Local hospitals and clinics enroll families into CICP. To be eligible for discounted services under the program, applicants must meet both residency and income and asset requirements.

A resident is eligible if they are:
- a Colorado resident or a migrant farm worker and
- a U.S. citizen or legal immigrant.

To qualify, applicants must have income and resources combined at or below 250% of the federal poverty level (FPL, see page 16), and cannot be eligible for Medicaid or CHP+. There are no age limitations for CICP eligibility. Applicants can have Medicare and any other commercial health insurance policy, but these policies must be exhausted before CICP reimburses the healthcare provider.

Applications
The participating provider completes the application for the applicant. However, to be determined eligible, applicants need to provide the following documents if applicable:
- State of Colorado drivers license or state identification card
- Proof of immigration status
- Copy of last month’s paycheck stubs; if you are not working copy of last months’ household bills
- Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) award letter
- Supplemental Security Income (SSI) award letter
- Proof of payments from pension plans
- Proof of payments from Aid to the Needy and Disabled (AND) or Old Age Pension (OAP)
- A copy of Medicare or health insurance card
- Value for all of vehicle(s)
• Proof of other income sources
• Copy of current checking and/or savings statement
• Documentation of past medical, physician, pharmacy expenses.

The applicant or responsible party must sign the application within 90 days of the date of service. If the applicant or responsible party is unable to sign the application, a signature should be provided by a spouse, relative, or guardian. Without a completed, signed application, discounted services cannot be provided to the applicant and no appeal rights exist. Applicants have the right to appeal any denials within 15 days of completing the application. Appeals must be received in writing and delivered to the provider where the application was completed.

Rating
Applicants will be assigned a “rate” based on their total income and resources. The rating process takes a “snapshot” of the applicant’s financial resources as of the date the rating takes place. Ratings cover services that were received up to 90 days prior to their application. The results of the rating will determine the client’s copayments for the year. If a client moves or changes providers, it is the client’s responsibility to tell the eligibility technician at the new provider of their CICP rating.

Changes to the rating or application may occur when:
• The year has expired
• Family income has changed significantly
• The number of dependents has changed, or
• Information provided was not accurate.

Under CICP, clients never have to pay more than 10% of their income in a 12-month calendar period for medical care from a participating provider. For example, a family of four with an annual income of $16,500 will have to pay copayments only up to $1,650. Clients are responsible for keeping track of the copayments and letting the provider know once the family has reached the 10% copayment cap.

If, based on family income and resources, applicants “appear” to be categorically eligible for Medicaid or CHP+, they must apply for Medicaid or CHP+ before they can apply for CICP. A denial letter from Medicaid or CHP+ must be received before the CICP application can be completed. Individuals with Medicare or other health insurance can apply for CICP. However, the clinic or hospital must bill the client’s Medicare or commercial health insurance policy first for all medical expenses incurred.

For More Information
For more information on CICP or to find a local provider, go to HCPF’s website at: http://www.colorado.gov/cs/Satellite/HCPF/HCPF/1214299805914

Medicaid Breast & Cervical Cancer Program
The Breast and Cervical Cancer Program provides full Medicaid benefits to uninsured women up to the age of 64 who meet the eligibility requirements.

Eligibility
Women are eligible for this Medicaid program, if they:
• Have been screened at a Women’s Wellness Connection (WWC) designated site (see below, for more information) and have breast/pre-breast cancer and/or cervical/pre-cervical cancer needs,
• Are between the ages of 40 and 64
• Have income under 250% of federal poverty level (see page 17)
• Have no credible health insurance coverage,
• Do not otherwise qualify for Medicaid in another category, and
• Are Colorado residents and citizens of the United States or are qualified aliens.

Eligibility for this Medicaid program is not determined through the CBMS system. To apply and determine eligibility, women must go to a Colorado Women’s Wellness Connection (WWC) designated site in their local community. To locate, call 303.692.2600, 1.866.692.2600 or go to: www.cdphe.state.co.us/pp/cwcci/index.html

When a woman applies for the program, based on her diagnosis and eligibility screen, a full Medicaid application will be filled out to determine her eligibility. She will also be screened for presumptive eligibility (PE), which will allow her to become immediately enrolled in Medicaid for a limited period of time, receiving full Medicaid benefits, before the full Medicaid application has been filed and processed. Presumptive eligibility begins on the date that the WWC designated site determines that the woman appears to meet the eligibility criteria for this program. Presumptive eligibility ends on the earlier of the following dates:

- The date on which a formal determination is made on the woman’s application for Medicaid, or
- The last day of the month following the month in which presumptive eligibility begins, in the case of a woman who fails to apply for Medicaid following the PE determination.

Once the Medicaid application has been processed, the woman will receive full Medicaid benefits. Eligibility is renewed yearly if clients are in active treatment per Medicaid regulations.

Eligibility and enrollment ends when:

- Clients obtain credible coverage or no longer meet the eligibility criteria
- Another Medicaid program can be accessed
- Clients refuse treatment (surgery, chemotherapy, radiation, and followed by recommended oral hormonal therapy)
- Clients turn 65 – they are disenrolled at the end of their birthday month, or
- A formal determination is made that clients are “no longer in need of treatment” by physician and BCCP Coordinator.

The clients, physicians, WWC sites and coordinator, and Medicaid application processing site are all notified in writing of disenrollment.

Benefits/Services

Eligible clients receive all Medicaid benefits included in the state plan and additional breast and cervical cancer services, including:

- Breast reconstructive surgery must be initiated within seven months following the last date of treatment.
- Breast or cervical cancer or precancerous treatment provided prior to program implementation or client enrollment into the program is not a covered benefit. Clients that have been treated prior to CWCCI and continue that treatment are not eligible.
- Clients eligible for this program shall receive all mental health services through the local Behavioral Health Organization (BHO, formerly Mental Health Assessment Service Agency, MHASA, see page 58).

Eligible clients receive services by providers participating in the Medicaid program. In addition, the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment (CDPHE) contracts with the Colorado Women’s Cancer Control Initiative (CWCCI) designated sites to provide assessment services, screening, and public education and outreach to eligible clients.

For More Information

For more information on the BCCP program, call 303.866.2693 or Fax 303.866.2573 or go to www.cdphe.state.co.us/pp/cwcci/treatment.html

Ryan White HIV/AIDS Program

The Ryan White HIV/AIDS Program is a federal program that provides HIV-related health services. The program works with cities, states, and local community-based organization to provide services to more than half a million people each year.

The program is for those who do not have sufficient healthcare coverage or financial resources for coping with the financial cost of treating HIV infection. Ryan White fills gaps in care not covered by other sources. The majority of Ryan White HIV/AIDS Program funds support primary medical care and essential support services. A smaller, but equally critical portion is used to fund technical assistance, clinical training, and research on innovative models of care.

Ryan White funding is administered by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), HIV/AIDS Bureau (HAB). Federal funds are awarded to agencies located around the country, which in turn deliver care to eligible individuals under funding categories called Parts, as outlined below. The CARE Act was passed in 1990, and most recently reauthorized in 2009 for a four year period, includes five different funding streams to states,
For More Information

There is no single coordinating agency for the different parts and programs of the Ryan White HIV/AIDS program as they are administered or delivered by different agencies within Colorado. However, in addition to the resources listed above, there are Regional Care Consortia (see listing below) across the state that may help individuals to determine if they are eligible for any of the Ryan White AIDS programs and to help determine through which programs they may access services.

For More Information – Additional HIV/AIDS Resources

The AIDS Coalition for Education (ACE), is the oldest coalition of its kind in the nation and is comprised of over 40 public and private organizations and individuals who have interests in or activities specifically related to HIV/AIDS education, information, prevention, and care services at either local or statewide levels. ACE’s mission is to increase public awareness and education around all aspects of the HIV/AIDS epidemic. ACE’s members volunteer their time to produce the Colorado HIV/AIDS Resource Directory, which is the only comprehensive listing of its kind in the state. Published copies of this directory are available statewide, go to: www.acecolorado.org/ or email info@acecolorado.org to get a copy of this resource directory.

Kaiser Connections

Kaiser Permanente’s community service program, Connections, provides low-cost health care coverage for families who otherwise could not afford health care.

Eligibility

To be eligible for Connections, individuals must meet the following criteria:

- Must live within the Kaiser Permanente, Denver/Metro service area.
- Family’s gross annual income (before taxes) must not be greater than:
  - $32,490 for one person
  - $43,710 for two persons
  - $54,930 for three persons
  - Add $11,200 for each additional person
- Cannot be enrolled in or eligible for Medicare, Medicaid, Child Health Plan Plus (CHP+), or an employer-sponsored plan that pays at least 50% of the cost of coverage (except will consider dependents not covered by an employer)
- Cannot be pregnant, in a hospice, a nursing home or other institution or have pre or post-transplant care
- Cannot be former Connections members – program eligibility limited to once and a maximum of 24 months.

Services & Cost

Connections provides healthcare benefits at greatly reduced rates for up to 24 months to eligible individuals and families. The coverage includes a free health risk appraisal, preventive services at low cost, hospitalization, comprehensive pharmacy, optical, and mental health benefits. Monthly premiums range from $31.75-$95.24 for one person, and $91.75-$275.25 for a family, based on family size and income.

To Apply

To get an application, call 303.338.3490.

With the application form, individuals who meet the eligibility requirements must send the following information:

- Total number of people in household (written in the box on the back of the application)
- Total monthly income for household (written on the back of the application)
- Some form of documentation of income (pay stubs from the previous month, if available)
- Sign and date application.

If applying for Connections for dependents under age 19, applicants need to denote that dependents are NOT eligible for CHP+ due to immigration status or other.

Early Intervention Colorado

Early Intervention for Infants, Toddlers, and Families is a program under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA - Part C) that provides a system of supports and services for families who have children, birth to up to the third birthday, who have significant delays in development, or who have been diagnosed with a physical or mental condition associated with significant delays in development. The goal of Early Intervention Colorado is to ensure that families have quick access to this coordinated, interagency, community-based service system through their local Community Centered Board. The intent is to help families enhance their child’s development within their day-to-day life at home and within the community. EI Colorado provides funding, training and technical assistance to interagency groups across the state to identify and bring together available resources to assist families in meeting the needs of their infants and toddlers.

The early intervention services and supports that ECC eligible children and their families receive are:

- Designed to meet the full range of developmental needs of each child and the needs of their families related to their child’s development
- Provided by qualified personnel
- Documented and described through an Individualized Family Service Plan (IFSP)
- Coordinated with other federal, state, local and community resources
- Designed to include a wide range of family-centered services, resources and supports
- Provided in everyday routines, activities, and places relevant to families lives.

For more information on EI Colorado, call 1.888.777.4041 or go to: http://www.eicolorado.org/

Early & Periodic Screening, Diagnosis & Treatment (EPSDT)

The EPSDT Program helps families access early identification and treatment of medical, dental, vision, hearing, mental health, and development problems for their children. Persons from newborn to age 21 and all pregnant women who are currently on Medicaid can use EPSDT benefits. The EPSDT benefits can be used at any time, as long as the person is eligible for Medicaid. A well child check up should include:

- A complete health, nutritional, and developmental history
- A “head to toe” uncloth ed physical examination
- Health education
- A growth and developmental check
- Urine and blood (including lead screening tests), if needed
- Baby shots/immunizations, as needed
- Additional tests or exams, as needed.

The person’s age determines which parts of the check-up they will receive. Not all tests are given at every check up.

Children age 1 and over should also have dental check-ups which include:

- Examinations
- Cleanings
- Fluoride treatment
- Oral hygiene instruction as needed

Basic dental treatment (filling cavities) is covered, but the dentist must receive approval by Medicaid before special treatment services are given.

An EPSDT Outreach Coordinator is available to help you with your Medicaid benefits and services. For more information, or to speak to someone about finding a provider, call the Nurse Support Line at 1-800-283-3221.

If you have questions about EPSDT or your Medicaid benefits, please call your local office. Those numbers can be found at www.Colorado.gov/hcpf.
Older Americans Act Programs

The Older Americans Act was established in 1965 to improve the quality of life for all older Americans by helping them to remain independent and productive. The Older Americans Act was created to provide community-based services to persons age 60 and over to assist them to be economically self-sufficient or to live in their own homes and communities for as long as possible. In Colorado, programs under the Older Americans Act are provided through 16 Area Agencies on Aging.

Nutrition Services Program for the Elderly
Provides meals in a congregate setting to assure a nutritionally balanced diet and provides opportunity for socialization. The program may provide home delivered meals to eligible persons who are unable to leave the home.

Transportation Services for the Elderly
Provides transportation for access to meal sites, medical appointments, grocery shopping, and other necessary activities.

Disease Prevention and Health Promotion
Services Program Provides health risk assessments, routine health screening, nutrition counseling and educational services, health promotion programs, programs regarding physical fitness, home injury prevention services, medication management screening and education, information regarding diagnosis, prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of age-related diseases, and chronic disabling conditions and counseling.

National Family Caregivers Support Program
Provides services including: information and assistance to caregivers, counseling, support groups, and respite and other home and community-based services to families caring for their frail older members. The needs of grandparents are also recognized if they are caregivers of grandchildren who are under 19.

Elder Abuse Prevention Program
Provides education, training and public awareness activities to prevent incidents of abuse, exploitation, and neglect of at-risk adults. Education, training, and public awareness activities are carried out by the Colorado Department of Human Services staff, the Colorado Coalition for Elder Rights and Adult Protection, local county departments of social services, and Area Agencies on Aging.

In-home Services Program for Frail Elderly
Provides a variety of services to persons in need of assistance with activities of daily living primarily because of functional impairments. Services may include personal care and chore services.

Information and Referral Program
Provides information services to older persons, their families, and the general public regarding programs and services available to them in their communities.

Legal Assistance Program
Provides legal services to older adults (60 and over) through local legal service providers, under contract with the Area Agencies on Aging, to assist them in resolving legal problems and advocating for their rights. The program includes the Colorado Legal Assistance Developer, who provides training and technical assistance.

Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program
Provides services to older adults who reside in long-term care facilities. Ombudsmen identify, investigate, and resolve complaints made by residents of long-term care facilities, as well as act as advocates on behalf of residents. The program includes the Colorado Long-term Care Ombudsman, who provides training, certification, and technical assistance to the local ombudsman (see page 57).
Senior Community Services Employment

Program promotes and fosters useful part-time employment in community services activity for unemployed, low-income persons age 55 and older. Program enrollees are placed in subsidized jobs and given training and counseling services to move them to unsubsidized employment.

Other Community-Based Services Program

Provides home maintenance and repair, respite care, assisted transportation, adult day care, assessment, outreach, interpreting services, counseling, individual follow-up, recreation, nursing, and telephone reassurance to persons over 60.

For more information on these programs or to locate a local Area Agency on Aging, contact 303.866.2800 or go to: www.ColoradoAging.com. In addition, information is available through the state Long-Term Care Ombudsman (see page 57) at 303.722.0300 x 217.
PUBLIC HEALTH PROGRAMS

Individuals and families may be eligible for public health programs through the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment (CDPHE) and its partnerships with local public health agencies and nursing services.

These agencies work together to provide the core public health functions, including:

- conducting community needs assessments and tracking community health status;
- developing policies to support individual and community health needs, community based programs, and integration of services and systems serving underserved populations;
- providing population based services, including controlling communicable disease, community education and referral, technical assistance, and response to unmet community and high risk health conditions; and
- providing direct personal care services through its agencies and partnerships in the community.

CDPHE provides technical assistance and consultation in needs assessment, program planning, implementation, evaluation, and training of the local public health workforce. The local public health agencies provide services and programs to the local community.

This section outlines the programs that different individuals may access through the local public health agencies and department of public health.

Local public health agencies work to ensure the provision of public health services and coordination of care for all Coloradans. In areas in which healthcare services and budgets are limited, low-income clients and those with special healthcare needs are prioritized. Community-based activities, consultation, training and services are focused on improving the health of high-risk individuals in the community.

Services offered through the public health programs vary by agency and community. Local public health agencies and partners provide clinical services, information, referral, care coordination, and health education to women, children, families, and other individuals in need. Some of the services provided by local public health agencies may include the following:

- Risk reduction programs (teen pregnancy, alcohol, and tobacco and drug prevention)
- Injury prevention programs (car seat use)
- Increased access to health care and care coordination services
- Childhood immunizations
- Pediatric specialty care outreach clinics in rural areas
- Primary services, where possible, including medical and dental services
- Professional and staff training
- Family planning and prenatal care for high risk pregnancies
- Health assessments
- WIC (Women, Infants, and Children’s Nutrition Program, see page 64)
- Vision, hearing and developmental screenings
- Assistance enrolling in public programs, including Medicaid and CHP+
- Referrals to other needed health and human services agencies and providers
- Referrals to evidence-based tobacco cessation programs such as Colorado QuitLine
- Referrals to breast and cervical cancer screenings and colorectal screening
- Home visitation to newborns and high-risk children
- Consultation to child care providers on ways to ensure a healthy and safe child care environment, including smoke free environments
- Consultation to health care providers in the community regarding strategies to enhance client and provider knowledge of important health services and resources.
Public Health Nurses

Public health nurses in partnership with local departments of public health are the primary providers of public health services throughout the state. Public health nurses in all 64 counties provide essential services such as disease control, immunizations, linking people to needed services, emergency preparedness, and community coalition building to address complex public health problems. The CDPHE works with local agencies to assure access to essential public health and environmental services to everyone in Colorado regardless of county of residence. Services may vary between jurisdictions. For more information about state and local public health services, call 303.692.2350 or go to www.cdphe.state.co.us/opp/phn/index.html?col2=open. The website contains contact information for local public health agencies, calendars of regional meetings and events, and registration for a professional emergency volunteer system.

Programs

In addition to the services mentioned above that are provided by local public health agencies across the state, CDPHE and local health agencies work together to provide some critical public health programs that provide care coordination or pay for services for specific populations. Some of these programs include the following:

- Health Care Program for Children with Special Needs
- Ryan White AIDS & Related Programs
- Nurse Family Partnership

Health Care Program for Children with Special Needs

The Health Care Program for Children with Special Needs (HCP) is a resource for families, healthcare providers, and communities. The program goal is to improve the health, development, and well being of Colorado’s children with special healthcare needs and their families by developing a system of healthcare services and supports for all families.

HCP services children from birth to age 21 that have or are at risk for physical, behavioral, or emotional conditions. Through contracts with regional and local county public health partners, HCP serves to assess the needs of families, provide care coordination, and assist families in accessing community-based health care, including specialty care, and non-medical resources to meet the individual needs of a particular family.

Local HCP public health nurses and other health team members assist families understand the health care system and coordinate care with other support agencies and community resources including:

- Medicaid (EPSDT)
- Social Security Income (SSI)
- Child Health Plan Plus (CHP+)
- Early Intervention Colorado (Part C)
- Special education and developmental disabilities services
- Primary and specialty care, dental care, and mental care providers
- Developmental and diagnostic evaluations

Eligibility

HCP Care Coordination is available for all families regardless of income. Care Coordinators assist families in determining their eligibility for public or non-profit program assistance.

Services

Public health nurses or social workers, along with other health care team members, provide care coordination to families. Other HCP staff may include a family coordinator, dietitian, audiologist, speech-language pathologist, and occupational or physical therapist.

HCP Care Coordinator’s responsibilities include:

- Assisting families identify their primary care provider
- Assisting families identify members of their healthcare team
- Assisting families identify sources of payment for needed health care services
- Assisting families access pediatric specialty care including HCP Specialty Clinics in rural areas of Colorado (Neurology, Cardiology, Orthopedics, Rehab, and Pediatric Developmental and Diagnostic services)
PUBLIC HEALTH PROGRAMS

• Facilitating a medical home approach with the child’s PCP and healthcare team so that the child receives coordinated medical services and has access to appropriate community resources and family supports.

HCP Care Coordinators are knowledgeable and skilled in:
• Identifying and accessing local and state wide community health and non-health services
• Assisting, when needed, the Newborn Metabolic Screening Program and the Newborn Hearing Screening and Follow Up Program
• Identifying and referring for vision and developmental screening resources
• Connecting parents with parent support groups and parent leadership opportunities
• Collaborating with health care providers, other community agencies, and parent groups to ensure a child’s medical home approach across providers, agencies and organizations
• Providing culturally responsive services

Ryan White AIDS and Related Programs

The CDPHE Care and Treatment Program administers Part B of the Ryan White HIV/AIDS Program, called the Ryan White HIV/AIDS Treatment Extension Act of 2009. The program is charged with providing and coordinating the delivery of primary HIV healthcare, treatment and supportive services for persons living with HIV in Colorado. Services available include the AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP) and the Insurance Assistance Program for people with HIV infection.

AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP)
ADAP is a program to provide AIDS-specific medications at no cost on an outpatient basis to Colorado residents who qualify for the program. Individuals are eligible for the program, if they:
• Are a Colorado resident
• Have proof of HIV positive diagnosis from a doctor or testing facility
• Have income at or below 400% of the Federal Poverty Level
• Are not eligible for any other medical insurance through which he or she would be able to access medications in an affordable manner. (The Ryan White ADAP system must be the payer of last resort.)
• Are not enrolled in Medicaid, as those on Medicaid must access HIV medications through that program. In addition, those on Medicare, you must be enrolled in a Medicare Part D Drug Plan in order to access Colorado’s ADAP.

For more information, contact the ADAP project administrator at .303.692.2748, or contact a Colorado AIDS Service Organization located throughout the state:
• Boulder County AIDS Project, 303.444.6121
• Colorado AIDS Project, 303.837.0166
• Northern Colorado AIDS Project, 800.464.4611
• Southern Colorado AIDS Project, 800.241.5468
• Western Colorado AIDS Project, 800.765.8594
Insurance Assistance Program for People with HIV/AIDS

The Insurance Continuation Program is a statewide program that provides continuous insurance coverage for individuals with HIV/AIDS who need insurance coverage. Individuals may be eligible if they:

- Are a Colorado resident
- Have proof of HIV positive diagnosis from a doctor or testing facility
- Have income at or below 400% of the Federal Poverty Level
- Are eligible for medical insurance or a COBRA policy with access to medications in an affordable manner
- Are not enrolled in Medicaid, as those on Medicaid must access HIV medications through that program
- Those eligible for Medicare must receive assistance through the Medicare Part D assistance program
- Individuals can remain in the program as long as they meet the eligibility requirements, and the program continues to receive funding.

For those eligible at 200% of the FPL or below, participants can receive up to $10,000 annually for insurance premiums, as well as medical and pharmaceutical co-pays and deductibles. For those eligible at 400% of FPL or below, participants may receive up to $8,400 annually in either insurance premiums, or pharmaceutical co-pays each month.

For more information, contact the Insurance Program project administrator at 303.692.2783, or an HIV/AIDS case manager at one of the five local AIDS Service Organizations listed previously. You may also call the Insurance Program Project Administrator at 303.692.2783.

Resource Management System and Referral Network

The Resource Management System and Referral Network ensures that people living with HIV and those at risk for HIV are linked to the care and prevention services they need. The Resource and Referral Network is a free service of the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment. It is a completely confidential service that will help individuals navigate through numerous agencies and organizations and connect them with the people, information and services to meet their needs. This is accomplished through a statewide collaborative network of client advocates, insurance experts, housing and food service experts, and many others. For more information, contact 303.692.2772 or 1.866.466.8633.

Nurse Home Visitor Program (Nurse-Family Partnership)

The Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment, in partnership with local health departments and non-profit agencies, provides grants to public or private organizations in Colorado to provide regular, in-home, visiting nurse services to low-income, first-time mothers, with their consent, during their pregnancies and through their children’s second birthday. The goals of the program are to improve pregnancy outcomes, child health and development, and parental life course.

Eligibility

Women who are first-time mothers (no previous live births) or whose first child is less than one month old and who are low income (at or below 200% of the federal poverty level, see page 16) are eligible for the program. Women are enrolled during pregnancy, or within one month postpartum, through their child’s second birthday.
Services

Services are provided through local grantees that directly implement the Nurse-Family Partnership program that was developed and tested by the National Center for Children, Families and Communities at the University of Colorado Health Sciences Center. Currently, 19 agencies in 53 counties throughout the state deliver services through this program with the long-term goal of expanding the program annually, as funding permits, so that services will be available for all eligible mothers who choose to participate in all parts of the state.

Registered nurses make regular home visits throughout this intensive, long-term program. Nurses provide maternal and child health assessments and extensive teaching on health, parenting, safety and environmental health. Trained nurses help educate mothers on the importance of nutrition and avoiding alcohol and drugs, including nicotine, and assist and educate mothers in providing general care for their children and in improving health outcomes for children. They also provide links to other community services and supports as needed and help mothers in locating assistance with educational achievement and employment.

Healthcare providers described in this section provide comprehensive primary care services to low-income patients. These providers serve low-income patients who either have public insurance (e.g., Medicaid or CHP+) or are uninsured. Care for the uninsured is not an entitlement program and persons in this category are not guaranteed coverage for specified services.

Health Clinics
There are many different types of health clinics that provide services to Colorado’s medically underserved individuals, families, and children. These include:

- Federally Qualified or Community Health Centers
- School Based Health Centers
- Clinic Net, Faith Based, Local & Other Low Cost Clinics
- Family Medicine Residency Programs
- Rural Health Clinics, and
- Reproductive Health Care Clinics and Programs.

Federally Qualified/ Community Health Centers
Community Health Centers, also called Federally Qualified Health Centers, include several types of centers, including Community, Migrant, Homeless, and School-Based Health Centers (see below). Colorado has 15 health centers operating 138 clinic sites (see Appendix III). Community Health Centers are characterized by 5 essential elements that differentiate them from other health care providers, including:

- They are located in high-need areas
- They provide comprehensive primary healthcare services to their patients
- Their services are available to all residents of their service areas, with charges based upon ability to pay
- They are governed by community boards, thus ensuring their accountability and responsiveness to local needs, and
- They are nonprofits or public agencies with a mission to provide health care to the medically underserved.

Eligibility
Community Health Centers accept private insurance, Medicaid, CHP+ and uninsured clients. Applications for Medicaid and CHP+ are taken at the Community Health Centers. If individuals are not eligible for Medicaid or CHP+ or are uninsured, they may be eligible for services based on their ability to pay.

Services
Health services and programs vary based on each community's needs, but generally the services provided include primary and preventive care for all ages, prenatal and obstetrical care, family planning, well and sick child care and adolescent care. In addition, some Community Health Centers also provide:

- Dental care, mental health services, pharmacy services, minor surgery, and
- Instruction in nutrition and parenting, Lamaze classes, and teen pregnancy support programs.

Cost
Charges for individuals vary depending on which program they participate in (Medicaid, CHP+) or if they are uninsured or underinsured. Individuals enrolled in CHP+ or Medicaid, may be required to pay a copayment, if required by the program, specific to income, family size, and nature of service (see CHP+, page 26). Individuals who are not eligible for Medicaid or CHP+ or do not have adequate insurance, will likely be required to pay fees based on the Colorado Indigent Care Program's (CICP) “ability to pay” scale (see CICP, page 34), with charges based on income and family size.

For More Information
For more information, call 303.861.5165, go to www.cchn.org or see Appendix III.
School Based Health Centers

School Based Health Centers are primary health care facilities located within or on school grounds. They are staffed by a multi-disciplinary team of pediatric or adolescent health specialists, including school nurses, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, doctors, and behavioral health professionals. In Colorado, there are 45 schools in which school-based health centers are located and one mobile clinic traveling to various school sites in multiple school districts.

Eligibility

School-Based Health Centers are designed to serve students whose access to care is limited, including adolescents and low-income children who are uninsured or underinsured.

Services

Services emphasize prevention, as well as early identification and treatment of physical and behavioral health concerns. Each school-based health program is different, however they all offer primary medical care including immunizations, preventive care services, and sports physicals. Other services may include:

- Chronic and acute medical care including asthma treatment
- Mental and behavioral health services
- Substance abuse counseling
- Health promotion and education services, including: tobacco, diet and exercise education and other information on child health risks
- Preventive dental care
- Assistance enrolling eligible students into Medicaid or the Children’s Health Plan Plus

Providers take a team approach, supporting one another, the children, the faculty and the families in solving problems.

For More Information

For more information, call 303.692.2386 or go to http://www.cdphe.state.co.us/ps/school/index.html

Clinic Net and Faith Based Clinics

In addition to the Federally Qualified Community Health Centers, ClinicNet, a network of independent, privately funded, and some faith-based non-profit clinics in Colorado, provide health care to the medically underserved. Twenty-seven private clinics, including eight Family Medicine Residency Programs (FMRPs, see below), are independently financed and are providing health care for low-income, underserved and uninsured patients. Specific eligibility may vary by clinic. However, uninsured patients should be prepared to provide some proof of income. Pertinent personal data will also be requested including, name, address, phone number and dependent information. Few if any ClinicNet providers have residency restrictions. Patients with Medicaid, Medicare or some other publicly-funded insurance need to bring their cards or other appropriate evidence of coverage. Healthcare services are provided by both residency training clinics and privately-funded nonprofit clinics:

- Medical services are provided by each of the 27 clinics.
- At least three of the clinics offer oral health services.
- Four of the clinics provide mental health services (some care may be limited to pastoral counseling).

Generally, uninsured patients are charged on a sliding fee scale basis. The rate usually factors in both income and number of individuals in a household. The actual calculation is most often based on the federal poverty level (see page 17). Patients are charged at the time of each visit (fee for service). The initial fee itself may represent a discounted rate (less then market price). Co-pays and other charges assessed individuals with Medicaid, Medicare, and other publicly funded coverage, are governed by the specifications of those programs. For more information, contact ClinicNet at 303-814-2645 or go to http://www.clinicnet.org/.

Family Medicine Residency Programs

Family Medicine Residency Programs serve as a critical component of the safety net and train family practice physicians to provide the full scope of primary care to individuals of all ages. Residency programs function similarly to large family medicine private practices and serve a diverse population, including private pay and low-income or uninsured individuals and families.

Through the residency programs, services are provided to low-income individuals and uninsured families at a reduced or no-cost basis. There are nine family medicine training centers that are part of Colorado’s “safety-net” and are located in Denver, Fort Collins, Greeley, Grand Junction, Littleton, Westminster, and Pueblo (see Appendix III).

Services & Costs

Colorado’s Family Medicine Residencies provide the full scope of primary care and family medicine services to individuals of all ages. While exact services vary from program to program, some of the services provided include: well and sick care, immunizations, prenatal care and delivery of babies, preventive care and education, and some mental health services. In addition, the residency programs have created unique programs designed to be preventive and keep their community’s population out of the emergency room and the hospital. These include the following:

- Early intervention with parents of children two years and younger to learn the different stages of development and immunization needs
- Community-based education to prevent youths from smoking and increase children’s use of bicycle helmets
- Medication Brown Bag: Forums to educate patients with multiple prescriptions about proper use of medications
- HIV/AIDS clinics
- Clinics for migrant farm workers, and
- Case management to work on addressing the multiple unmet psychosocial needs of indigent patients before they become serious enough to require high-cost care.

The cost of services varies from program to program. Many of the residency programs are providers under the Colorado Indigent Care Program and offer free or reduced rates based on a sliding-fee scale based on income and family size, see CICP on page 34. For more information, go to www.aafp.org/residencies/co.html.

Rural Health Clinics

In addition to the health centers and clinics mentioned above, there are Rural Health Clinics throughout Colorado in areas where health care services are limited that serve low-income, underserved, and uninsured patients. A Rural Health Clinic is a primary healthcare clinic that is located in a non-urbanized area that has been shown to have a shortage of healthcare services or healthcare providers, and has been certified as a Rural Health Clinic under Medicare. Under the law, the clinic must employ either a physician’s assistant or a nurse practitioner; must make arrangements with a physician for medical direction, guidance, and supervision; and must make arrangements with a Medicare certified hospital for referral and admission of patients by the clinic. The State of Colorado currently certifies 43 facilities. Services vary by clinic, but all clinics provide outpatient primary care services. Rural Health Clinics are not required to use a sliding fee scale or accept patients regardless of ability to pay. However, many of them do utilize sliding fee scales and do treat underserved patients. In addition, they receive enhanced reimbursement from Medicaid and Medicare. For more information, contact the Colorado Rural Health Center at 303.832.7493 or 800.851.6782 or go to http://www.coruralhealth.org/ or http://www.cdphe.state.co.us/hf/rhc/index.html

Reproductive Health Care Clinics & Programs

Title X

Title X of the Public Health Service Act is the only federal program devoted solely to the provision of family planning services on a nationwide basis. In more than 60 sites throughout Colorado, over 57,660 women and men receive family planning services annually. Eighty-nine percent (89%) of the patients served have incomes at or below 150% of poverty. Patient fees are determined by the patient’s income and the ability to pay. Colorado family planning clinics provide a range of preventive health services, including:

- Physical exams for women and men
- Cervical, breast, and testicular cancer screening
- Birth Control information and supplies
• Screening, counseling and referral for sexually transmitted infections and HIV
• Health education and counseling, including information regarding abstinence
• Pregnancy testing
• Basic infertility services
• Referrals to other health and social services

Family planning clinics often are an entry point into the healthcare system for women and families who otherwise lack access to healthcare services. The Family Planning Program does not subsidize abortion services. Clinics are located in:

• Local health departments
• Public health nursing services
• Community Health Centers
• Hospitals
• Nonprofit agencies

Planned Parenthood of the Rocky Mountains
Planned Parenthood of the Rocky Mountains provides reproductive health care for women and men of all ages, identities, and income levels. Planned Parenthood health centers accept Medicaid and many other medical insurance plans as well as cash, checks (except at abortion centers) and most credit cards. Some people may be eligible for reduced charges, grants or payment plans. Individuals are encouraged to inquire at their local Planned Parenthood provider. Generally, appointments can be made within a day or two walk-ins are welcome. Clinicians trained in reproductive health care provide exams. Each health center has at least one consulting doctor or nurse practitioner. Referrals for follow-up are given to clients with health problems that can’t be treated at the health center. Some methods of birth control are available without a pelvic examination. For more information on Planned Parenthood, call 1.800.321.PLAN, to locate the closest health center or go to http://www.plannedparenthood.org/health-center/index.htm

Bilingual Reproductive Health Services Guide
In addition to the services through Planned Parenthood, NARAL Colorado’s Access Project has developed a bilingual reproductive health resource guide to help women and men of all incomes locate reproductive health services in their communities. For more information or to order a free copy of the publication, Your Choices: A Guide to Reproductive Health Care Services in Colorado, contact NARAL Pro-Choice Colorado at:

Hospitals
Colorado hospitals provide a large amount of charity care to uninsured, low-income patients - with some hospitals taking on more of the burden than others. Though hospitals are required to provide care to individuals suffering from an emergency condition, regardless of ability to pay (see below), they are becoming increasingly inundated and are providing an increasing proportion of charity care annually. While some hospitals receive some reimbursement through the Disproportionate Share Hospital program (see below) for providing free or reduced care to uninsured and low-income patients, it hardly compensates for the increasing needs and numbers of medically underserved patients that they are serving. While hospitals are a critical component of the safety net, individuals should be encouraged to seek out other sources of primary and preventive healthcare services first, before turning to hospitals and their emergency rooms.

Charity Care & Hospitals
Non-profit hospitals are obligated to provide charity care to the community at large in return for their non-profit status, however, the level of charity care is not clearly defined. For-profit hospitals also have a minimum corporeal social obligation to provide some amount of essential services to “care and to cure” individuals in need in their communities. Charity care is medical treatment provided by a hospital or other provider for which it does not expect to be paid. For people who are uninsured or have only limited coverage, charity care may represent the only avenue to necessary medical treatment. It is an essential safety net for many working individuals and families who are not eligible for coverage through a government program like Medicaid or Medicare, and who do not get health insurance through an employer. The availability of charity care is particularly important in states like Colorado that have significant numbers of uninsured residents, a shortage of primary care providers offering charity or reduced fee care in medically needy neighborhoods, and few public hospitals. For more information, individuals who are in need of healthcare services should contact the local hospital in their community to determine how to access charity care or see Appendix III.

Federal Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act

The Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act, EMTALA, also known as COBRA or the Patient Anti-Dumping Law, is a statute which governs when and how a patient may be refused treatment or transferred from one hospital to another when in an unstable medical condition. EMTALA was passed as part of the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA) of 1986. The purpose of the statute is to prevent hospitals from rejecting patients, refusing to treat them, or transferring them to “charity hospitals” or “county hospitals” because they are unable to pay or are covered under the Medicare or Medicaid programs. The essential provisions of the statute are that: Any patient who “comes to the emergency department” requesting “examination or treatment for a medical condition” must be provided with “an appropriate medical screening examination” to determine if he/she is suffering from an “emergency medical condition.” If he/she is, then the hospital is obligated to either provide treatment until stable or to transfer the patient to another hospital in conformance with the statute’s directives. If the patient does not have an “emergency medical condition,” the statute imposes no further obligation on the hospital.

While EMTALA technically applies only to “participating hospitals” (i.e., to hospitals which have entered into “provider agreements” under which they will accept payment from the Department of Health and Human Services, Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services under the Medicare program for services provided to beneficiaries of that program), in practical terms, this means that it applies to virtually all hospitals in the U.S., with a few exceptions. For more information on EMTALA, go to www.emtala.com.

Disproportionate Share Hospital

The DSH program compensates hospital providers that have high volumes of Medicaid and low-income clients. In Colorado, DSH is funded by CICP (see page 34) and the Colorado Healthcare Affordability Act (see page 11). In order receive DSH funding in Colorado to serve low-income patients, a hospital must participate in CICP. In other states, the federal funding may be used very differently. For more information on the DSH and CICP program in Colorado or to locate a DSH hospital or provider, go to www.chcpf.state.co.us and click on the Medicaid link. From there, click on the Colorado Indigent Care Program (CICP) link. The link for participating providers is on the bottom of that page.

Private Providers

In order to get a clear picture of the safety net programs that are available, it is necessary to recognize the participation of private providers in providing free and reduced care to low-income populations. In addition to other providers listed in this guide, there may be other sources of low-cost health care in the community through private providers, including: physician assistants; nurse practitioners; psychiatrists; psychologists; social workers; substance abuse counselors; pharmacists; therapists; including massage, art, occupational, physical, speech, respiratory, and others; dieticians and nutritionists; ophthalmologists, and others. Individuals who are not able to get care through providers listed in this guide may consider:

- Talking to local private providers to see if they will give a discounted rate
• Being straightforward and honest with private providers, if unable to pay a bill and try to arrange a payment plan or other option
• Shopping around for care to find the “best price in town” as costs for services may vary greatly by provider
• Contacting the Family Healthline at 303.692.2229 or 1.800.688.7777 (Monday through Friday 9 am to 5 pm), or
• Calling the local Legal Services office to help know your rights and help get care.

Physicians

It has been estimated that the majority of private physicians provide free or reduced-cost care to populations in need, either in their own offices, in volunteer clinics, or other sites throughout Colorado. While there are no good comprehensive Colorado data on the types of physician charity care delivered, or the specific populations to whom care is given, it has been estimated that over 60% of Colorado physicians provide over 1 million hours of free care annually.

One such example of a more formalized network of physicians is DOCTORS CARE, which provides access to affordable health care, through a coalition of healthcare providers, to uninsured adults and children in Arapahoe (excluding Aurora), Douglas and Elbert counties. For more information, call 303.730.1313 or go to http://www.drscare.org/index.php.

Nurses

As with physicians, nurses (including registered nurses, public health nurses, nurse midwives, nurse practitioners, licensed practical nurses, etc.) often provide free or reduced cost services on a sliding fee basis to low income Coloradans, either through formal or informal networks. The Visiting Nurse Association and Public Health Nurses (see page 43) provide services to all individuals regardless of ability to pay.

Visiting Nurse Associations

Visiting Nurse Associations (VNA) are located in several communities throughout Colorado to serve the health needs of community members. With offices in Denver and Colorado Springs the VNA serves patients throughout the Front Range. The spectrum of services and programs of the VNA start before birth and touch every stage of life. Each VNA program is different, but services may include:

• Community health programs for young families, adults, and seniors
• School & public health immunizations and services
• Family planning & prenatal care
• Home visits
• WIC (Women, Infants, and Children’s Nutrition Program, see page 64)
• Women’s health services
• Services for children with special needs
• Flu shot clinics, adult and travel immunizations, and communicable disease control
• Disease management programs
• Cancer awareness and screening
• HIV/AIDS services
• Occupational health services
• Seniors clinics, wellness, and support services for the elderly
• Certified home health care services
• Hospice, and
• Other specialized health services to meet the local community’s needs.

Community health nursing and occupational health nursing services are additionally available. Services are provided by dedicated teams of professional caregivers: nurses, certified home health aides, homemakers, personal care providers, medical social workers, dietitians, parent advocates, and physical, occupational, and speech therapists, support staff and eligibility technicians. LONG-TERM CARE

Long-term care includes a variety of medical and non-medical care services to people of any age who have a chronic illness or disability. Long-term care helps meet health or personal needs. Most long-term care is designed to assist people with support services such as activities of daily living like eating, dressing, bathing, and using the bathroom. Long-term care can be provided in the home, in the community, or in other facilities.

Long-Term Care Agencies and Providers

Single Entry Point Agencies

Single Entry Point (SEP) agencies that represent geographic districts throughout the state allow persons in need of long-term care to access appropriate long-term care services through one single point of entry. Single Entry Point means the availability of a single location within a county where a client can obtain long-term care information, have eligibility determined for the program, and provide screening, assessment of need, and referral to appropriate long-term care programs and case management services. For more information or to locate a local SEP, go to: www.colorado.gov/cs/Satellite/HCPF/HCPF/1205189474220 or to Appendix IV.

Community Centered Boards

Community Centered Boards manage and deliver services, in partnership with private service providers, to individuals with developmental disabilities and their families throughout the state of Colorado. In 1963, Colorado statute authorized Community Centered Boards to be responsible for community services for persons with developmental disabilities, offering an alternative to state-operated regional facilities. Currently there are 20 Community Centered Boards that serve approximately 11,000 (almost 96% of the state’s developmentally disabled population) and their families in every county across the state. For more information or to locate a Community Centered Board, go to www.cdhs.state.co.us/ddd/csb_main.htm or to Appendix I.

Assisted Living Residences

In Colorado, assisted living facilities and personal care boarding homes are both referred to as assisted living residences. There are three types of assisted living residences in Colorado: private pay, alternative care facilities (assisted living residences that are Medicaid certified), and residential treatment facilities for persons with severe and persistent mental illness (see below). As of 2004 there are about 524 assisted living residences in Colorado. Any assisted living residence caring for three or more residents must be licensed. Private pay assisted living residences are licensed. Alternative care facilities have Medicaid clients, and are licensed and certified.

Assisted living residences range in size from 3 to more than 200 beds. The most common reasons for admission to assisted living residences are medication management, bathing and dressing assistance, and the need for protective oversight and supervision. Assisted living residences provide a range of services including room, board and at least the following: personal services, protective oversight, social care and regular supervision available on a 24-hour basis. Personal services include a physically safe environment, supervision, assistance with activities of daily living such as medication administration, bathing, dressing, eating, laundry, recreational activities and arrangements for transportation. Protective oversight includes monitoring the needs to ensure the residents receive the services and care necessary to protect their health, safety and well being. For more information or to locate an assisted living residence, call the Administration on Aging at 303.844.2951 to find local Area Agency on Aging call the State Long-Term Care Ombudsman at 303.722.0300 x 217. Information on Assisted Living Facilities can also be found on the following websites: www.cdphe.state.co.us/hf/air/index.html and www.hfems1.dphe.state.co.us/hfd2003/homebase.aspx?Ftype=pcbhpp&Do=list
Nursing Homes/Nursing Care Facilities

All Colorado nursing homes, also called skilled nursing facilities, are licensed and certified to provide services to eligible Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries (and patients who can pay privately) and are expected to meet federal regulations. As of 2004 there were about 221 nursing homes in Colorado with close to 17,000 residents.

Nursing homes are operated by for-profit and non-profit organizations. They are found throughout the state, vary in size and offer different programs. All nursing homes provide long-term care services to chronically-ill persons or individuals with chronic mental illness. Many nursing homes also offer short term or extended care rehabilitative services, and special units for people with Alzheimer’s Disease or other types of dementia. Everyone nursing home has an assigned ombudsman who visits the facility regularly and helps residents with any problems they encounter including quality of care, residents’ rights, and problems with transfer and discharge. For more information or to locate a nursing home, contact the local Area Agency on Aging (see Appendix I), or the state Long-Term Care Ombudsman at 303.722.0300 x 217. Information about nursing homes and nursing care facilities can be found at: www.cdphe.state.co.us/hf/ncf/index.html. Additional information about choosing a nursing home can be found at: www.drcog.org/index.cfm?page=agingservices

Residential Treatment Centers/Care Facilities

Community Residential Treatment Centers are homes that provide services and support for persons with developmental disabilities and/or severe mental or behavioral health disturbances. Residential treatment facilities are licensed mental health facilities, operated by mental health centers, service agencies or community-centered boards. They are generally located in residential areas and are found throughout the state. Altogether, there are about 208 group homes in Colorado.

Services may be paid for by Medicaid under its Home and Community-based Services program (HCBS, see page 24). Residents’ rights are clearly defined in the law. These facilities must provide a homelike environment, with use of common areas by all persons living there. Supportive services include meals, laundry, personal care, assistance with medications, and protective oversight. Activities and transportation also are provided. Residents’ medical needs must be overseen by a primary care physician and the facility must furnish required medical services and keep residents’ medical records. For more information or to locate a residential treatment center, contact the local Area Agency on Aging (see Appendix I), or the state Long-Term Care Ombudsman at 303.722.0300 x 217. More information can be found at www.cdphe.state.co.us/hf/rcfdd/index.html.

Intermediate Care Facilities

Intermediate Care Facilities are designed for the care of persons with developmental disabilities. They provide medical care and supervision, nursing services, occupational and physical therapies, activity programs, educational and recreational services and psychological services. They also provide assistance with activities of daily living, including meals, housekeeping, and assistance with personal care and taking medications.

There are three Intermediate Care Facilities in the state – one in Wheat Ridge, one in Grand Junction and one in Littleton. The Wheat Ridge and Grand Junction facilities are operated by the Colorado Department of Human Services and the third, in Littleton, by a private non-profit organization. Generally, these facilities serve persons with severe developmental disabilities. For more information, contact the local Community Centered Board (see Appendix I), or go to: www.cdphe.state.co.us/hf/icfmr/index.html.

Home Health Agencies

The home health program is a federally mandated Medicare and Medicaid program that provides skilled care services in homes or alternative community settings. Home health agencies are not licensed, but they must be certified. There are approximately 129 certified home health agencies currently providing service in Colorado.

Home health agencies provide a wide range of health and social services to persons recovering from an illness.
or injury, or persons who are disabled and/or chronically ill. They provide skilled services such as nursing, social services, and therapeutic treatments (physical, speech, occupational therapy). They also provide non-skilled services like help with bathing, dressing, and eating. Medical equipment such as wheelchairs, walkers, and oxygen also may be provided. For more information, contact the local Area Agency on Aging (see Appendix I) or go to: www.cdphe.state.co.us/hf/hha/index.html. General information on Home care can be found at: www.cdphe.state.co.us/hf/homecarecolorado.htm

Long-Term Care Programs and Services

Hospice

Hospice care is a package of services and programs provided to terminally-ill individuals and/or their caregivers and families. Hospice beneficiaries must be under the care of a physician. Hospice services can be delivered in the home, in a licensed health care facility such as a nursing home, in a hospice residential facility, in an inpatient hospice facility, or through a hospice day care center. Usually, an interdisciplinary team consisting of a physician, a registered nurse, clergy/counselors, volunteers and other specialists work with the terminally-ill person and his/her family or caregivers. There are 43 hospice programs operating in the state and most are certified to provide services for Medicare-eligible persons.

Hospice is a centrally-administered program of palliative care (i.e., services which do not cure illnesses, but produce the greatest degree of relief from the symptoms of a terminal illness) and supportive care. Included is physical, psychological, spiritual and sociological care, which is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Hospice services include bereavement (assistance to the family and caregivers after the death of the hospice patient). Core hospice services are physician and nursing care, pastoral counseling, and social counseling. Each hospice patient receives a copy of the Hospice Patient’s Bill of Rights and Responsibilities. Some of the rights include being informed of the hospice program, services to be provided, options available, and associated charges; participating in development of the care plan; and the right to refuse services or withdraw from the program. For more information, call the local Area Agency on Aging (see Appendix I), or the state Long-Term Care Ombudsman at 303.722.0300 x 217. Information on Hospice services and facilities can be found at: www.cdphe.state.co.us/hf/hospice/index.html

HCBs Personal Care and Homemaker Services

Personal Care and Homemaker services are provided under the Medicaid HCBS waiver program (see page 24) for eligible clients in their homes. Personal care services are furnished to meet the clients’ nonskilled physical, maintenance, and supportive needs, including bathing, grooming, hygiene, and assistance with walking. As these services are nonskilled, they do not need to be performed by a certified home health aide as an extension to care provided by a nurse or therapist. A personal care provider is required to receive at least 20 hours of training.

Homemaker services are provided when the individual ordinarily responsible for these activities is temporarily absent or unable to manage the household activities. These services include housecleaning, meal preparation, and laundry. Homemakers are required to have eight hours of training. There are about 161 Personal Care/Homemaker agencies in the state of Colorado. For more information on where to locate personal care and homemaker services, call the local Area Agency on Aging or county department of social/human services (see Appendices II). Information about Adult Day services can also be found at: www.cdphe.state.co.us/hf/hcbp/index.html.

Home and Community Based Services Adult Day Services

Adult Day Services are health and social services, individual therapeutic and psychological activities furnished on a regularly scheduled basis in an adult day services center, as an alternative to long-term nursing facility care, as part of the HCBS waiver programs (see page 24). The State of Colorado currently certifies about 51 facilities. For more information and to locate adult day services, contact the local Area Agency on Aging or county department of social/human services (see Appendices II). Information about Adult Day services can also be found at: www.cdphe.state.co.us/hf/hcbs/adp/
Home and Community Services

In many communities, in addition to the facility-based care listed above, there are additional services and programs to help seniors and people with disabilities with a variety of personal activities. Some of these home and community based services and programs include:

• Meal programs (like Meals on Wheels)
• Senior centers
• Friendly-visitor programs
• Programs to help with shopping and transportation
• Assistance with legal questions, bill paying, or other financial matters.

For more information, call the local Area Agency on Aging (see Appendix I) or go to: www.cdhs.state.co.us/aas/.

Long-Term Care Resources

In addition to the resources mentioned above, there are several key agencies and contacts that serve as a critical resource in the community on long-term care services, including:

Area Agencies on Aging

Area Agencies on Aging (AAAs) are local organizations that coordinate a comprehensive range of services to promote the independence and dignity of older adults. Older adults and their caregivers can contact their local Area Agency on Aging to receive help in accessing services in their community, including in-home supportive services, nutrition services, transportation, elder rights, and protection assistance, and caregiver support services.

AAAs coordinate and offer services that help older adults remain in their home, if that is their preference, aided by services such as Meals-on-Wheels, homemaker assistance, and whatever else it may take to make independent living a viable option. By making a range of options available, AAAs make it possible for older individuals to choose the services and living arrangement that suit them best from the frail older person who can remain at home if they receive the right services to those who are healthy and can benefit from the activities and socialization provided by community-based programs such as senior centers.

AAAs were established under the Older Americans Act (OAA) in 1973 to respond to the needs of Americans aged 60 and over in every local community. The services available through AAA fall into five broad categories, including:

• Information and access to services – including information and referral assistance, counseling, client assessment, care management, transportation, caregiver support, and retirement planning and education
• Community-based services – including employment services, senior centers, congregate meals, adult day care services, volunteer opportunities
• In-home services – including Meals-on-Wheels, homemakers, chore services, telephone reassurance, friendly visiting, energy assistance and weatherization, emergency response systems, home health services, personal care services, and respite care
• Housing – including senior housing and alternative community-based living facilities, and
• Elder rights – legal assistance, elder abuse prevention programs, and ombudsman services for complaint resolution.

AAAs play a pivotal role in assessing community needs and developing programs that respond to those needs. These agencies also act as advocates for improved services for older persons and their families. AAAs often serve as portals to care, assessing multiple service needs, determining eligibility, authorizing or purchasing services, and monitoring the appropriateness and cost-effectiveness of services. AAAs provide direct services and contract with local providers to furnish other services in the community. AAAs coordinate the provision of low-cost, comprehensive, quality care to older persons by helping them and their families navigate a complex system of services. In their local communities, these agencies strive to maximize service potential and avoid duplication of effort. They also collaborate with other groups to sponsor events of interest to older adults and their caregivers. For more information or to locate the local Area Agency on Aging, go to Appendix I or call the state Long-Term Care Ombudsman (see next page) at 303.722.0300 x 217.
Information on AAAs can also be found on the following websites:

Long-Term Care Ombudsman

A Long-Term Care Ombudsman is an advocate for residents of nursing homes, board and care homes, and assisted living facilities. Ombudsmen provide information about how to find a facility and what to do to get quality care. They are trained to resolve problems. The ombudsman can assist with filing complaints but will keep concerns confidential unless otherwise given permission to share. Under the federal Older Americans Act, every state is required to have an Ombudsman Program that addresses complaints and advocates for improvements in the long-term care system.

A Long-Term Care Ombudsman:

- Resolves complaints made by or for residents of long-term care facilities
- Educates consumers and long-term care providers about residents’ rights and good care practices
- Promotes community involvement through volunteer opportunities
- Provides information to the public on nursing homes and other long-term care facilities and services, residents’ rights, and legislative and policy issues
- Advocates for residents’ rights and quality care in nursing homes, personal care, residential care and other long-term care facilities, and
- Promotes the development of citizen organizations, family councils, and resident councils.

Ombudsman services can be used by:

- Residents of any nursing home or board and care facility, including assisted living facilities
- A family member or friend of a nursing home resident
- A nursing home administrator or employee with a concern about a resident at their facility
- Any individual or citizen’s group interested in the welfare of residents, and

• Individuals and families who are considering long-term care placement.

For more information, individuals may contact the state Long-Term Care Ombudsman at 303.722.0300 x 217 or 1.800.288.1376 or go to www.thelegalcenter.org/index.php?s=60. For information on Ombudsmen, go to www.ltcombudsman.org

The Eldercare Locator

This is a national service that helps older adults and their caregivers find home and community-based services in their communities. The Eldercare locator can also provide individuals with contact information to their local Area Agency on Aging.

For more information, contact the Eldercare Locator at 1.800.677.1116 or go to www.eldercare.gov/Eldercare.NET/Public/Network/AAA.aspx
MENTAL HEALTH

Mental health services for low-income uninsured and underinsured Coloradans are becoming increasingly difficult to access. Budget cuts in recent years have greatly affected the already limited funding and have decreased available resources. Mental health services are moving toward serving only the most seriously ill populations and those with Medicaid or some form of insurance. Many Coloradans who do not fit into these categories have difficulty accessing necessary services.

The community mental health system provides services to persons of all ages with a wide variety of mental disorders including serious mental illnesses or serious emotional disturbances who are either Medicaid eligible, uninsured, or underinsured. The services provided, when available, include inpatient treatment, emergency services, case management, counseling and treatment, rehabilitation services, residential care, medication management, in-home family preservation, day services, residential support services, peer/family support, and public education. The system is comprised of a number of different interlinked components, described below.

Payers of Mental Healthcare Services

Department of Human Services, Division of Behavioral Health

Division of Behavioral (DBH) is one of several units that comprise the Office of Behavioral Health and Housing, a subdivision of the Colorado Department of Human Services. The Division of Behavioral Health is responsible for providing policy oversight for the state’s public mental health system, as well as administrative and programmatic oversight for the community mental health system. For more information on mental health services and programs provided through DMH, call 303.866.7400 or 1.800.811.7648 (outside Denver metro).

Department of Health Care Policy and Financing

The Department of Health Care Policy and Financing (HCPF) is designated as the single state agency to administer Colorado’s Medicaid program, and as such, administers the mental health component of the Medicaid program. The Department is responsible for contracting with mental health providers; adopting standards, rules and regulations for the Medicaid mental health program; monitoring mental health providers to ensure high quality and accessible mental health services, and responding to complaints regarding the Medicaid mental health program, services, and providers. For more information on Medicaid mental health services and benefits, call 303.866.3513 (Denver metro) or 1.800.221.3943 (outside Denver metro).

Providers of Mental Healthcare Services

Community Mental Health Centers and Clinics

Community mental health services are primarily delivered through contracts with seven specialty clinics and 17 not for profit community mental health centers. The state is divided into geographic service areas and each CMHC is responsible for providing a comprehensive array of services for the residents of its assigned area. Each specialty clinic serves a defined special population (such as members of an ethnic minority group) and may provide a narrower range of services than a CMHC. For more information call 303.866.7400 or go online to www.cdhs.state.co.us

Behavioral Health Organizations

There are five Behavioral Health Organizations (BHOs) that are responsible for implementing the Medicaid Mental Health Capitation Program through contracts with the Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing. The BHOs operate managed care programs serving all of Colorado’s 64 counties. Each BHO is responsible for managing the delivery of mental health services to Medicaid-eligible individuals in its assigned geographic service area.

Colorado Mental Health Institutes

Inpatient hospitalization for Colorado citizens with serious mental illness or emotional disorders is provided in two State-operated Mental Health Institutes - Colorado Mental Health Institute at Pueblo (CMHIP) and Colorado Mental Health Institute at Fort Logan (CMHIFL). DMH provides policy oversight for the Institutes, which function as part of the integrated public mental health system. For more information, call 303.866.7066 for Fort Logan, or 303.759.2110 (from Denver) 719.546.4000 for Pueblo.

27-10 Designated Facilities

Involuntary mental health services are provided by over 50 public and private facilities statewide, including all the Community Mental Health Centers and both mental health institutes to persons considered dangerous to themselves or others or who are gravely disabled due to mental illness. For more information on designated facilities, call 303.866.7400 (Denver metro) or 1.800.811.7648 (outside Denver metro).

Private, Nonprofit, and Other Mental Health Providers

Throughout Colorado, there are numerous clinics that provide mental health services to low-income populations. These clinics and programs are maintained by a variety of funding streams, including private, nonprofit, public-private partnerships, and faith-based programs. In addition several organizations, including the Mental Health Association of Colorado and the Colorado Federation (see below) help families and consumers identify mental health programs and resources in local communities. For more information on these mental health clinics and providers, go to Appendix III.

Mental Healthcare Resource Agencies

Mental Health Association of Colorado

The Mental Health Association of Colorado is a non-profit organization that provides leadership to address the full range of mental health issues in Colorado. The Mental Health Association provides education, advocacy, research, and services to eliminate the stigma of mental illnesses and increase access to mental health services. The Mental Health Association also helps individuals and organizations in need of mental health services with providers and necessary care and coordinates a volunteer mental health program providing free mental health care to low-income youth and families, homeless and other at-risk populations at community host sites. For more information, contact the Mental Health Association of Colorado at 720.208.2220 or 1.800.456.3249 or go to: www.mhacolorado.org.

Federation of Families for Children’s Mental Health - Colorado Chapter

The Colorado Federation is a family-driven and family-run non-profit organization that promotes mental health for all children, youth, and families. The Colorado Federation is committed to creating better advocates to enable families and youth to better access appropriate and timely mental health services in Colorado to affect better outcomes for children, youth, and families. For more information, call 303.572.0302 or 1.888.569.7500.

For More Information

For more information on mental health programs and services, individuals with Medicaid or who may be Medicaid eligible may call Medicaid Customer Service at 303.866.3513/1.800.221.3943 or 303.866.3883 TTY. Individuals who do not have Medicaid, may call the Division of Mental Health at 303.866.7400 or 303.866.7471 TDD.
DENTAL HEALTH

In Colorado, there are limited providers of dental health services for low-income individuals, families, and children. Colorado’s dental safety net relies heavily on private practitioners for the Medicaid and CHP+ programs. In addition, there are several community health centers and non-profit health clinics that provide dental services to low-income populations. This section outlines the types of programs that pay for dental care and programs that provide dental services for low-income populations in Colorado.

Payers of Dental Care Services

Medicaid

The Medicaid program, through its EPSDT program, is required to provide enrolled children with dental screening and treatment for any conditions in need of further care. Although services include a comprehensive set of dental services, including emergency, preventive, and therapeutic services, Medicaid clients have difficulty accessing services because of the limited number of Medicaid dental providers, geographic limitations, and other reasons. Adults cannot receive dental coverage in Medicaid, except in a few limited circumstances. For more information on the dental benefits available through the Medicaid program, call 303.866.3513, or go to Medicaid, page 21.

CHP+

Since 2002, the CHP+ program has provided dental benefits to enrolled children. CHP+ dental benefits are administered by Delta Dental of Colorado and include preventive services, oral surgery, and endodontics with a $600 per child per year limit. As with other CHP+ benefits, higher income families may be required to pay a small fee or co-pay at the time of services. Preventive services have no co-insurance/co-pay, while other services have a co-pay of $5 or less. However, both the Delta Dental Foundation and Delta Dental of Colorado donate additional dollars to provide services to children who exceed the maximum benefit. Through CHP+’s dental program, Delta provides a statewide network of over 800 dentists (85% of all licensed dentists in the state). However, as is the issue with Medicaid, many CHP+ clients have difficulty accessing services for various reasons. If you have any questions about CHP+ dental benefits or Delta Dental, call Delta Dental at 800.610.0201 or go to the CHP+ section on page 26.

Old Age Pension Dental Program

The Old Age Pension Dental Program, also known as the Dental Assistance Program for the Elderly was established in 1977 to provide dental care (dentures and related services) to senior citizens who receive Old Age Pension public assistance (see OAP, page 28). This program was instituted to improve the oral health of the low-income elderly of Colorado. The Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment through its Oral Health Program manages the dental component of the Old Age Pension Program, providing grants to eligible grantees for the provision of dental services to eligible seniors. Approved procedures and maximum allowable fees are set in statute. Clients may be asked to pay a co-payment not to exceed 20% of the maximum allowable fee. Services covered include dentures and partials, denture maintenance and repair, tooth extractions, fillings, cleanings, dental examinations, and x-rays. To qualify for the Old Age Pension Dental Program, an individual must be 60 years or older, live in Colorado, and receive Old Age Pension public assistance from the state of Colorado. For more information interested seniors may contact the local county department of social services (see Appendix II) or the Oral Health Program at 303.692.2470 or email CDPHE.psdrequests@state.co.us.

Providers of Dental Care Services

Community Health Centers

As mentioned on page 47, Community Health Centers offer a wide range of health services to low-income individuals, families, and children. The services provided at community health centers vary based on community needs and availability. While not all of the centers provide dental services, there are 37 Community Health Center clinics that provide dental services in 21 different counties. While services are available, there is not sufficient capacity to meet the extensive need in each community and access is often limited or requires extensive waiting periods to get an appointment. For more information on dental services through Community Health Centers, go to www.cchn.org or call 303.861.5165.

Private, Nonprofit and Other Dental Clinics

Throughout Colorado, there is a patchwork quilt of programs and clinics that provide dental services to low-income populations. These clinics and programs are maintained by a variety of funding streams, including private, nonprofit, public-private partnerships, and faith-based programs. For more information on these dental clinics, go to Appendix II.

Dental Programs for Special Populations

In addition to Community Health Centers and other dental clinics, there are several clinics and programs in Colorado that provide services to special populations.

Howard Dental Center for HIV+/AIDS Oral Health

Howard Dental Center provides dental services in a private clinic setting for men, women, and children living with HIV+/AIDS, regardless of income. Howard provides diagnostic and preventive services, regular dental cleanings, home care instructions, emergency care, restorations, tooth removal, root canals, and replacement of missing teeth. Howard provides services for no fee or based on a sliding fee schedule. To qualify for services, patients have to be residents of Denver, Arapahoe, Adams, Broomfield, Jefferson, or Douglas counties. Fees are based on income, although 90% of patients do not pay for routine services. Verification of HIV status and income is required. For more information on services provided by the Howard Dental Center, call 303.863.0772 or go to: www.howarddental.org

Colorado Foundation of Dentistry for the Handicapped

Colorado Foundation of Dentistry for the Handicapped provides donated dental services, outreach education, and dental house calls to disabled, elderly, or medically compromised individuals who have no financial means to pay for dental care and have comprehensive dental needs, with priority given to developmentally disabled individuals. The Foundation provides services through a volunteer network of nearly 700 private dental providers throughout Colorado. For more information on the Foundation, go to www.nfdh.org or call 303.534.5360.

Veterans Administration Dental Clinic

The Veterans Administration Dental Clinic provides a full range of dental services provided to veterans only including the disabled (permanent or total), ex-prisoners of war, veterans with a dental injury received during active duty, or enrolled in vocational rehab program. Patients must have served for 90 days or more and must apply for VA dental benefits within 180 days after separation from active duty. There is no residency requirement. For more information about eligibility for VA medical and dental benefits, contact VA at 1-877-222-8387 or www.va.gov/healtheligibility.

Cleft Lip/Palate Programs

There are several Cleft Lip/Palate programs in Colorado that provide multidisciplinary team approaches for children with cleft lip and/or palate, submucous cleft palate, paralysis of the palate and other oral-motor coordination problems. The team approach enables providers to manage all of the medical/dental needs of the cleft palate child in a single location.
For More Information

School Sealant Program

The School Sealant Project is a public/private partnership between Kids in Need of Dentistry and the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment’s Oral Health Program. The School Based Sealant Program screens second grade children in metro Denver elementary schools to identify those who will benefit from the placement of pit and fissure sealants on permanent molar teeth, with parental consent. The project also includes a dental screening, classroom presentations on oral hygiene and sealants, presentations on oral health for parents, and some referrals for children who need restorative or emergency care. Volunteer dentists, hygienists, and student dentists and student hygienists provide the services. For more information on the program, go to www.kindsmiles.org/kind/en/Home.htm or call 303.733.3710 or 1.877.544.KIND.

Miles for Smiles – Kids in Need of Dentistry (KIND)

The Miles for Smiles Mobile Dental Clinic is a state-of-the-art dental clinic “on wheels” that enables KIND’s staff and volunteers to provide comprehensive, quality dental care, including emergency care when necessary, to children in Colorado. KIND has treated more than 6,000 children in the Miles for Smiles van – providing routine treatments like screenings, cleanings, x-rays, fillings, and molar sealants, as well as emergency treatments such as extractions and root canals. For more information go to www.kindsmiles.org/kind/en/Home.htm or call 303.733.3710.

Ronald McDonald Care Mobile

The Ronald McDonald Care Mobile is a mobile dental clinic operated through Rocky Mountain Youth that provides screening and preventive dental services to children between the ages of 3-18 who have no public or private dental insurance. The Care Mobile is currently serving 10 schools in the Aurora Area. For more information, call 303.869.2173 or 719.632.5700 or email rmcm@peakvist.org

For More Information

INDIAN HEALTH SERVICES

The Indian Health Service (IHS) provides comprehensive health services through IHS and tribally contracted hospitals, health centers, school health centers, and health stations. Health services provided include medical, dental, and environmental health programs. Special program concentrations are in disease prevention and health promotion, alcoholism, substance abuse, suicide, accidents, maternal and child health, nutrition, and public health services. To apply for services, you should go to the patient registration office of the local HIS facility in person and present proof of your enrollment as a member of a federally recognized tribe. For more information, go to www.ihs.gov

Caring Association for Native Americans

Assists with hospital visits to Native American patients who come from reservations to Denver hospitals. Family assistance is given in the form of food, shelter, clothing, emotional and spiritual support. For more information, contact social worker at the hospital being used or call 303.698.0248.

Denver Indian Center

The purpose of this non-profit corporation is to promote the culture of Native American groups to offer health education, economic, services and resources. For more information, call 303.936.2688 or go to www.denverindiancenter.org

Denver Indian Family Resource Center

Provides services to help strengthen families to avoid involvement with the child welfare system or assist with reunification if children have been placed in foster care. Services include advocacy, tribal collaboration, case management, counseling, and culturally appropriate referrals, Indian Child Welfare Act Training, Positive Indian Parenting classes, youth prevention, and adult substance abuse education and support groups. For more information, call 303.871.8035 or go to www.difrc.org

Denver Indian Health and Family Services

This organization provides primary healthcare services with a more comprehensive Center for Wellness. Services promote and support individual and family health and wellbeing through components including Outreach and Referral, Health Education, Indian Youth Substance Abuse Prevention Program, and case management. Other proposed services include development of a Well-Child Clinic, family planning, prevention and early detection of health problems and for treatment of life threatening illnesses. For more information, call 303.781.4050 or go to www.dihfs.org.

Oral health care is also offered through DIHFS. Services include tooth extractions, cleanings, x-rays, fillings, root canals, and other dental procedures. Children and adolescents will be given top priority. Fees will apply. For more information, visit www.dihfs.org/dental.htm

OTHER RESOURCES & PROGRAMS

This section outlines resources and programs for assistance with health insurance coverage, food, energy, legal, housing, interpretation, environmental justice, transportation, and other related issues.

CoverColorado

CoverColorado is a non-profit created by the Colorado Legislature to provide medical insurance for eligible Colorado residents who, because of a pre-existing medical condition, are unable to get coverage from private insurers. A person may be eligible for CoverColorado if they have applied for individual health insurance and the application was denied within the past 6 months because of previous medical conditions, they are uninsured and have a diagnosis of one of the 33 presumptive medical conditions, or meets other eligibility criteria which can be found on the web site or by calling. The applicant must have resided in Colorado as a legal resident for at least six months prior to applying for coverage, unless they are HIPAA eligible or transferring from another state’s high risk insurance pool. They cannot be eligible for Medicaid or Medicare. Rates are based on age, gender, tobacco use, and county that they are currently a resident. Rates listed on the web site are MONTHLY rates, per person.

There is Premium Discount Program (PDP). To be eligible for the program, income must be less than $50,000 and you must meet an asset test. For more information, call 1.877.461.3811 or 1.800.259.2656 (TDD) or go to www.covercolorado.org

Food

Women, Infants, and Children’s Nutrition Program (WIC)

WIC is a nutrition program for:
- Pregnant women
- Breastfeeding women (up to one year postpartum)
- Non-breastfeeding, postpartum women (up to six months postpartum)
- Infants, and
- Children until the age of 5 years.

The United States Department of Agriculture provides funding to the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment to operate the WIC Program in the State of Colorado. The State Health Department in turn provides funding to county health departments, nursing services or community health centers to provide WIC services for people in individual Colorado counties.

Eligibility

WIC participants must have household income at or below 185% of the federal poverty level and be “nutritionally at risk” to qualify for the program. The Colorado WIC Program currently serves approximately 89,461 women, infants and children in the State of Colorado. Of those WIC participants approximately 23,439 are women, 24,250 are infants and 41,772 are children between the ages of 1 and 5 years. Colorado WIC operates approximately 116 clinics throughout the state that provide WIC services.

Services

The WIC Program provides:
- Nutrition education including breastfeeding support
- Nutritious foods to supplement a person’s regular diet, and
- Screening and referral.

For more information on the WIC program and to find a local WIC program, contact the local WIC office or the Colorado Department of Public Health & Environment at 303.692.2400 or 1.800.688.7777, or go to www.cdphe.state.co.us/ps/wic

The Food Assistance Program

The Colorado Food Assistance Program assists low-income individuals and families who need assistance purchasing food. The Food Assistance Program provides a basic level of nutritional well being for eligible low-income families and individuals. Individuals and families can apply for food stamp benefits at their local county department of social services. The Food Assistance Program is offered in at least one location in all Colorado counties. County Departments of Social Services certify eligible applicants for food stamp benefits and issue an electronic benefit transfer system card that can be used to purchase food products at authorized food retailers.

You may be eligible for food assistance if you:

- Are unemployed or work part time or for low wages
- Receive other public assistance payments
- Are elderly or disabled and live on a small income
- Are homeless.

Food assistance benefits are issued on an Electronic Benefit Transfer (EBT) card, called the Colorado Quest Card. It looks like a credit or bank card and can be used at any authorized store across the country.

For more information or to if you have problems, contact the local department of social services (see Appendix II) or:

Federal/State Food Distribution Programs

The Commodity Food Distribution Program has a two-fold purpose: to improve the nutritional quality of the diets of those participating in the program, and to help strengthen the American agricultural market. In Colorado, the program is administered by the Colorado Department of Human Services, Food Distribution Program. For more information on the programs, call 303.866.5106 or the toll-free number 888.467.0418. To learn more about FDP online go to www.cdhs.state.co.us/fdp/.

The Colorado Food Distribution Program administers the following seven different programs:

- The National School Lunch Program
- The Child and Adult Care Food Program
- The Nutrition Program for the Elderly
- The Summer Food Service Program
- The Summer Camp Program
- The Commodity Supplemental Program, and
- The Emergency Food Assistance Program.

A brief description of each of these programs may be found below.

The National School Lunch Program

The National School Lunch Program provides cash reimbursements and commodity foods to help support nonprofit food services in elementary and secondary schools, and in residential child care institutions. Children in these institutions receive meals for free or at a reduced price. School meals comply with the Dietary Guidelines for Americans, the federal policy on what constitutes a healthful diet. For more information, contact your local school. Schools may become participants in this program by contacting the following agencies:

Public Schools contact:

Commodity Supplemental Food Program
The Commodity Supplemental Food Program is a U.S. Department of Agriculture supplemental food program for low income pregnant, breastfeeding, and postpartum non-breastfeeding women (up to 1 year after the birth of the child), their infants and children (up to age 6), and senior citizens 60 years of age and older, including:

- Prospective women, infant and child clients must be eligible to receive benefits under an existing federal, state, or local food, health or other program for low income persons and/or their total household income is at or below 185% of the federal poverty level (see page 17).
- Senior citizens are income-eligible if their total household income is at or below 130% of the federal poverty level (see page 17).

Participants receive a monthly food package that includes infant formula, infant cereal, canned fruits and vegetables, canned meats, pasta or rice, dry beans or peanut butter, fruit juices, dry cereals, cheese, powdered and canned milk. Applicants must provide proof of their income, categorical status, and residency. The program is available to individuals residing in the following counties in Colorado: Denver, Weld, Pueblo, Mesa, Rio Grande, Conejos and Costilla. Individuals residing in counties adjacent to those listed may be eligible for the program if they are not eligible for (or participating in) WIC (see page 64). The Emergency Food Assistance Program
The Emergency Food Assistance Program provides food assistance to needy people through the distribution of commodities. Commodity foods are made available by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to states for distribution to households for use in preparing meals for home consumption, or to organizations that prepare and provide meals for needy people. Foods are distributed free, but recipients of food for home use must meet program eligibility criteria set by the states. For more information, contact the Colorado Department of Human Services, Food Distribution Programs at 303.866.5105 or toll-free 888.467.0418.

Other Food Distribution Resources
In addition to the federal and state food distribution programs, there are several other food distribution resources serving low-income individuals and families throughout Colorado, including Second Harvest Food Banks/Food Bank of the Rockies and SHARE Colorado.

Second Harvest Food Banks
Second Harvest Food Banks is a network of food banks throughout the state that provides food supplies to more than 900 hunger relief programs, including food pantries, child care centers, battered women's shelters, soup kitchens, and residential treatment centers. The food provided serves children, women, families and adults in need at no charge. The Second Harvest Food Banks include: Food Bank of the Rockies in metro-Denver and 31 counties, Care and Share in Colorado Springs and 30 counties, Community Food Share in Boulder and Longmont, Food Bank for Larimer County, and Weld County Food Bank.

In addition, Food Bank of the Rockies created the Children's Nutrition Network in metro-Denver in response to the specific needs of hungry children. This program includes the Denver Rustlers Kids Café, the After School Snacks for Tutoring programs, and the Children's Hunger Outreach program to provide additional relief to children and families in need. Finally, to address the problem of surplus prepared food, the Food Bank created the Denver's Table Program to solicit food donations from hotels, restaurants, caterers and other dining areas throughout metro-Denver to redistribute nutritious meals to those in need. For more information on these programs, go to www.foodbankrockies.org

Self Help and Resource Exchange (SHARE) Colorado
SHARE is a non-profit program that helps individuals and families save on their groceries, while encouraging the building of relationships with their neighbors in the community through volunteer time in exchange for the reduced cost groceries. As a non-profit organization, SHARE relies heavily on volunteers and passes on the savings by its reduced expense. Unlike a traditional grocery store, SHARE doesn't maintain inventories, expensive stores, or large employee bases but rather uses host distribution sites, such as churches, senior centers, schools, community centers, etc. SHARE selects about 20 items that individuals are most likely to buy at the grocery store, including fresh fruits, vegetables, and frozen meats and then through a national affiliate network, purchases massive quantities of these items at very low prices. Then through a network of volunteers at warehouse and distribution centers known as “host sites”, SHARE delivers the food to these host sites where individuals pick up their orders. In exchange for the reduced cost food, participants of the SHARE program are encouraged to volunteer. For example, a participant may receive a package of food valued at $30 for only $15, and in exchange is asked to volunteer two hours in return service back to the program, including anything from working at the host site or warehouse, to babysitting, to sharing a meal with a neighbor or friend. There are no eligibility requirements to qualify. Any one can participate in SHARE. For more information, go to www.sharecolorado.com/ or contact 303.428.0400 or 1.800.933.7427.

Energy

Low-Income Energy Assistance Program (LEAP) November 1st through April 30th.

LEAP is a federally funded program administered by the Colorado Department of Human Services. LEAP is designed to help low-income individuals with winter heating costs (it doesn’t pay the entire heating bill, just a portion). Individuals may qualify for LEAP assistance if they:

- Are a U.S. citizen or a legal alien and a resident of Colorado
- Pay a heating bill to an energy provider or their heat is included in their rent, and
- Have a gross monthly household income up to 185% of the federal poverty level (see page 17).

For more information or to apply, call the toll-free number at 1.866.HEAT.HELP (1.866.432.8435) to request an application or view and print an application at www.cdhs.state.co.us/LEAP/. Applications are accepted and processed by local county departments of social/human services (see Appendix II). To apply for LEAP online go to: www.seamlesscompassion.com/LEAP

Crisis Intervention Program

The Crisis Intervention Program provides assistance with furnace repair/replacement or replacement of broken windows. Individuals who are eligible for LEAP may be eligible for this assistance. For more information or to apply, go to www.cdhs.state.co.us/LEAP/

Energy Outreach Colorado

Energy Outreach Colorado is the only non-profit organization in Colorado that is dedicated to helping low-income individuals and families meet their home energy needs through the Charitable Energy Network and the Low-Income Energy Assistance Program (LEAP). The Charitable Energy Network Utility Assistance Program distributes energy assistance dollars year round through more than 87 community-based organizations reaching all 64 Colorado counties. The funds provide emergency fuel bill assistance for Colorado’s low-income households facing an energy crisis. A portion of Energy Outreach Colorado’s energy assistance dollars supplement the federal LEAP program, which operates during the heating season of November 1st through April 30th. Individuals or families that qualify for LEAP assistance can go to one of the EOC participating agencies and apply for cash assistance that goes directly to their utility company.

In addition, the organization supports Energy Efficiency Programs that provide long-term solutions to helping needy Coloradans control their energy costs, helping fund the installation of energy efficient measures in affordable housing projects, and supporting energy efficiency and weatherization programs. For more information, go to www.energyoutreach.org/default.asp or call 303.825.8750.

Property Tax/Rent/Heat Rebates and Deferrals for the Elderly and Disabled

The Property Tax/Rent/Heat Rebate and/or Property Tax Deferral Program enables qualified applicants to receive a rebate of up to $600 of the property tax and $192 of their heating expenses paid during the year, either directly or as part of their rent payments, by filing the Property Tax/Rent/Heat Rebate Application Form. Individuals who are full-year Colorado residents, 65 or older, disabled, or a surviving spouse 58 years of age or older may qualify. For more information on the program, go to www.revenue.state.co.us/fyi/html/generl07.html
Legal Services

Ombudsman for Medicaid Managed Care

State-funded but independent office that acts directly on behalf of a Colorado Medicaid patient unable to get needed medical care and services, and helps to resolve problems including filing grievances and appeals. For more information or to obtain assistance, call 303.830.3560 in the Denver Metro Area and call 1.877.435.7123 outside the Denver Metro Area.

Colorado Legal Services

Colorado Legal Services provides free legal advice and representation to low-income persons throughout Colorado who qualify for services. Colorado Legal Services provides services in civil matters, but not criminal matters. If Colorado Legal Services cannot help, they will try to give individuals the name of another agency or a private attorney who can help. To get legal help through Colorado Legal Services, individuals must make no more than 125% of the federal poverty level (see page 17) but there are some exceptions. Individuals who qualify for services from Colorado Legal Services will be assigned an attorney or a paralegal, working under the supervision of an attorney to handle their case. Legal Services offices are different around the state. In general, Colorado Legal Services offices handle family law; housing rights and homelessness; public benefits issues; health and the elderly; utilities and consumer issues; and other related cases. Colorado Legal Services cannot handle cases other than those mentioned or cases in which:

- Individuals make too much money or have too much property
- The case can result in attorney fees for the attorney, such as in personal injury and workers’ compensation cases
- The case is a criminal case
- The case is a traffic dispute
- Individuals are undocumented.

For more information

For more information, call Colorado Legal Services at 303.837.1313 or 1.800.521.6968, or go to www.coloradolegalservices.org/co/homepage.html. For additional legal resources, go to the following websites: Colorado Statewide Directory of Local Pro Bono Programs at www.cobar.org/group/index.cfm?category=437&EntityID=CALS or a list of free Legal Services Providers is available at www.usdoj.gov/eoir/probono/freeleglightCO.htm

The Legal Center for People with Disabilities and Older People

The Legal Center for People with Disabilities and Older People protects and promotes the rights of people with disabilities and older people through direct legal representation, advocacy, education, and legislative analysis. The Legal Center is Colorado’s federally mandated Protection and Advocacy System for people with disabilities. As such, it has broad federal authority to obtain access to facilities and records to investigate allegations of abuse and neglect. The Legal Center gives priority to providing services not available through any other organization and to people least able to advocate for themselves. The Legal Center provides information, referral, and technical assistance to people with disabilities and older people to support empowerment, self-determination, independence and inclusion. The organization provides legal representation to people with disabilities whose legal problem fits within program priorities. Some of the Legal Center’s programs and services include: abuse and neglect investigations; work assistance; housing assistance; education; HIV Legal Project; assistive technology; and voting assistance. For more information about programs, services, or other assistance, contact The Legal Center in Denver at 303.722.0300 or 1.800.288.1376 or in Grand Junction at 970.241.2105 or 1.800.531.2105 or go to www.thelegalcenter.org.
Housing

Housing Colorado!

Housing Colorado is the unified resource in the state for affordable housing education, information, and advocacy. Housing Colorado was formed in January 2005 from the merger of the Colorado Low-Income Housing Campaign, Colorado Rural Housing NOW! and the Colorado Affordable Housing Partnership to create a stronger voice for affordable housing.

Housing Colorado works to shift the public perception and the policy environment while providing tools and knowledge to help meet the challenges of affordable housing in Colorado. For more information, contact Housing Colorado at:

Colorado Coalition for the Homeless

Colorado Coalition for the Homeless (CCH) is a non-profit organization creating lasting solutions for homeless persons. CCH’s eleven housing communities offer nearly 1,000 units of affordable housing. Its 14 major service programs run the spectrum of street outreach and medical care to counseling and substance abuse treatment.

CCH is statewide agency for the two stimulus housing programs in Colorado:

• Rapid Re-Housing Initiative for Homeless Families
• Project Home Again (PHA), the Metro Denver (a rapid re-housing initiative collaboration involving the Colorado Coalition for the Homeless, Denver Human Services, ACCESS Housing, Family Tree, Jeffco Action Center, and Aurora agencies).

For more information, call 303.293.2217 or go to www.coloradocoalition.org

Referrals (211)

If a client is homeless and seeking shelter, 211 is the number to call for information on which shelters still have beds and which shelter would be the best fit for their particular needs. Other housing referrals are also available through this number. For more information on the shelter hotline, go to www.211Colorado.org or dial 2-1-1.

Mile High Rental Assistance Hotline

The Mile High Rental Assistance Hotline, provides information about rental assistance that is available through other agencies. The hotline has normal business week hours and callers will get information and then need to make additional calls to find assistance. For more information, call 303.561.2130.

Fair Housing Hotline

Individuals who feel they may have been discriminated against in the sale or rental of housing should call the fair housing hotline. For more information, call 1.866.231.6946 during normal business week hours or go to www.learnfairhousing.org

Regional Housing Information

The Housing Referral Network is here to provide info about affordable housing, programs and resources available. Our goal is to help prevent and eliminate homelessness for individuals and families by:

• Providing information about available affordable housing for individuals and families
• Providing information about housing funding for individuals and families
• Providing information about incentive programs for builders of affordable housing.

For more information, go to: www.housingreferralnetwork.org/CO.html

Shelter Hotline and Other Housing

www.shelterhotline.org
Motel Voucher Information

This hotline provides taped information in both English and Spanish on how individuals may access motel vouchers in an emergency. For more information, call 720.944.4663.

Translation and Interpretation

The Spring Institute

The Spring Institute is a nonprofit training and consulting corporation dedicated to demonstrating that national, cultural, linguistic and ethnic differences are assets that foster understanding and cooperation. Programs include providing direct service, technical assistance, training, and consulting at regional, national, and international levels. For more information, go to www.spring-institute.org

Interpreter Network of Colorado

A project of the Spring Institute for Intercultural Learning, INoC provides interpretation and translation services in 80 languages. INoC interpreters and translators meet the highest professional standards required in the field. Services are available to address communication needs in a variety of contexts, including healthcare, legal proceedings, and employment. For more information, call 303.831.4151 or go to: www.interpreternetwork.org/

Asian Pacific Development Center

The Asian Pacific Development Center promotes the well-being and health of the Asian American /Pacific Islander community of Colorado through culturally appropriate programs and services. For more information, call 303.393.0304 or go to www.apdc.org.

Environmental Justice

Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)

Through its Region 8 Environmental Justice Program, the EPA works with other EPA staff, states, tribes, and communities to incorporate environmental justice into program activities and policies to ensure that the environment and human health are fairly protected. The EPA program was created in 1994 and works to:

- Strengthen community capacity to address environmental justice issues through training, education, and effective grant management;
- Involve communities in environmental decision-making through effective outreach, accessible information, and by strengthening partnerships between government agencies, states, tribes, industry, and community members; and
- Incorporate environmental justice principles into EPA policies and program activities through consultation, guidance, and research.

For more information on the initiatives of the Region 8 EJ program, go to www.epa.gov/region8/ej/ejinitiatives.html

Other environmental justice programs or resources in Colorado may be found at www.epa.gov/region8/ej/index.html or by contacting one of the numbers listed below:

- National EJ Hotline: 1.800.962.6215
- Region 8 Toll Free Number: 1.800.227.8917
- Region 8 Denver Number: 303.312.6312

Transportation

Regional Transportation District (RTD)

The Regional Transportation District (RTD) has a reduced fare program that provides discounted tokens to select nonprofit and human services agencies that give away the tokens or monthly transportation passes free of charge to low-income clients in need of transportation. Clients are eligible to receive the tokens if they meet the income eligibility for the food assistance program (see page 64) and utilize the free tokens for transportation for work, medical appointments, child care, food and drug purchases,
Social services agencies, employment, school, training, judicial facilities, or travel training for the disabled. For more information, individuals are encouraged to ask the nonprofits and human services with which they are working about the discounted token program. In addition, students, seniors and disabled individuals qualify for additional discounted fares on RTD and can go to www.rtd-denver.com/ or call 303.628.9000.

Denver Regional Council of Governments (DRCOG)

The Denver Regional Council of Governments (DRCOG) provides assistance with mobility, information and service to older adults. DRCOG serves as the region's Area Agency on Aging, planning and coordinating a continuum of transportation and other services available to older adults living in the Denver metropolitan area. For more information on transportation and other programs available through DRCOG, call 303.455.1000.

Additional Resources/Programs

Colorado 2-1-1

Colorado 2-1-1 is a statewide health and human services database for organizations, including: child and elderly care, after-school programs, emergency shelter, job training, rent assistance, free tax assistance, utility assistance, counseling, and substance abuse. 2-1-1 is free, confidential, bilingual and available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. For more information, individuals may dial 2-1-1 or search the online database at www.unitedwaydenver.org or www.211colorado.org/

The Telephone Assistance Program (Lifeline)

This is a program of the Colorado Department of Human Services which provides eligibility verification only. LITAP is only available from the participating local telephone company that provides service in your area if your existing telephone company participates in the program and if you currently are active in one or more of the following state programs:

- Old Age Pension benefits (OAP)
- Aid to the Needy Disabled (AND)
- Aid to the Blind (AB)
- Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- Colorado Works/Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF)
- Low-income Energy Assistance Program (LEAP)

If you are not on one of the above programs you will not qualify for the telephone discount. Participation in a Federal program alone, such as Social Security, does not make you eligible for Lifeline. Please ask your telecommunications provider if they participate in the telephone discount program before you contact the number below. Not all telecommunications providers will offer the telephone discount. If you have a cell phone for your primary phone service, check with your provider to see if they participate in the telephone assistance program. For information, call toll-free 1.800.782.0721.

Employment First

Employment First is a federally mandated program designed to ensure that all able-bodied food assistance participants are engaged in activities that will improve their employability such as: workfare, adult basic education, GED preparation, literacy, college, vocational training, vocational rehabilitation, job search classes, and part-time work. For more information, contact the local department of social services (see Appendix II) or go to www.cdhs.state.co.us/employmentfirst/. The county office will assist the applicants with locating appropriate employment in addition to food assistance benefits.
SECTION THREE: Agency, Department & Provider Listing By County

SECTION THREE includes a listing of safety net agencies, departments, and providers.

SECTION THREE may be used to locate agencies, departments and safety net providers and clinics in their local communities through which consumers can determine eligibility or receive services.
